First Beer Served Under New Law

Historic "first" was scored yesterday by John McPherson, 64 Oswego, when he drank the first bottle of beer to be served in a Victoria restaurant under the new liquor laws. He dropped in to Brand's, 1009 Government, for his beer and was served by Mrs. Cecile Miller, 320 Henry. McPherson, who is a linoleum contractor, ordered a salmon steak to go along with the beer and the law. "Nothing I like better than a bottle of beer after a good day's work," he grinned.

First tray of beer is prepared for Strathcona restaurant customer at 4.50 p.m. yesterday shortly after owner H. B. Olson was handed his dining room license. Colonist cameraman arrived just in time to see cashier Carol Maltby opening bottles for two thirsty supper-time diners.

Three Restaurants Start Beer Sales, No Wines Ready

First 10 Licenses Bring End To Victoria's 35 Dry Years

BY RAY BAINES

Three Victoria restaurants yesterday picked up where they left off 35 years ago and served tall, cold glasses of beer with meals.

Licenses for 10 city hotels and restaurants were issued yesterday. A few were in the mail but most were handed personally to operators who picked them up at liquor control board offices.

All were dining room licenses, entitling the licensees to serve beer and wine with meals. None served wine yesterday, as they had not prepared price lists.

The actual "beat" was scored by Edward Brand of Brand's Restaurant, 1009 Government Street. At 4.40 p.m. his restaurant served its first beer to John McPherson, 64 Oswego, the first Victoria citizen to buy it in a restaurant under the new liquor act.

NOT FAR BEHIND

The Strathcona Hotel was not far behind. The first customer was served at 4.50 p.m. and by 6 p.m. every other table had beer on it.

Some customers were a little self-conscious about ordering the beverage.

The Cameo Cafe at 828 Yates Street was serving beer by about 6 p.m.

Operators reported no unusual rush of business although they said many people ordered beer for the novelty of having it in a restaurant.

Price of a bottle of beer was 35 cents in all three establishments. Ale was 40 cents and Guinness stout 65 cents.

WHAT IS MEAL?

Clarification of several details in the regulations may still have to be made. One of the restaurants was allowing people to order beer with a bran muffin or an order of cookies. Definition of a "meal" has not been made clear under the regulations. Government officials feel that what may be a meal to one man is not a meal to another and that definition would merely create new problems.

Another restaurant operator was playing "on the safe side" and serving beer only with a full meal. He said he hoped for a ruling on what constitutes a meal soon.

Serving beer in bottles bothered another operator. He said the "liquor by the glass" rule may preclude the serving of a bottle of beer. Most glasses won't hold 12 fluid ounces and waitresses are therefore filling the glasses and leaving the bottle on the table.

The three restaurants serving beer yesterday expect to make a start on wines later in the week. Also receiving their licenses yesterday were Paul's Dominion and Paul's Sussex restaurants, Olympia Cafe, Duffy's Cafe and the Waldorf. They expect to start serving this week or early next week.

THREE LICENSES

Empress Hotel manager Thomas Chester said his licenses are in the mail. Granted three licenses — dining room, dining lounge and lounge (cocktail bar)—the Empress may start serving beer and wines with meals later this week.

The new cocktail bar located in the present reading and writing room, won't be ready for two months. Strathcona manger H. B. Olson said his cocktail bar may be ready in a month.

Meanwhile, H. R. Barnett of the Poodle Dog Cafe said he will meet Col Donald McGugan, LCB chairman, at 4 p.m. to try and settle the controversy over his restaurant's famed trade mark and sign.

The board ruled that the sign, likeness of a poodle dog carrying a tray with a bottle and two wine glasses on it, is contrary to the regulations under the liquor act, because it "advertises" the serving of liquor.

Mr. Bennett said the trade mark has been with his business for 64 years and he does not want to abandon it.

VANCOUVER (CP) — A glass of port could be enjoyed Tuesday along with the mountain scenery on both CNR and CPR transcontinental trains.

For the first time since 1915 it was lawful to serve liquor on trains in British Columbia.

Flood Less Likely

At least another week of cool weather is needed to erase the danger of a repetition of the devastating Fraser River flood of 1948, according to the Fraser Valley's chief flood-control officer.

The weatherman last night co-operated by forecasting lower temperatures which will help to keep snow on Interior mountains running off steadily instead of descending in a sudden flood.

J. L. MacDonald, Fraser Valley diking commissioner, reported the situation was "fairly quiet" Tuesday. The Fraser showed a "very slow rise" over the week end, he said.

The river level was 15.1 feet at Mission, up less than six inches in 24 hours. Last week the river rose a foot every day.

Mr. MacDonald said the cool week end weather was encouraging and that if it kept up for a week to 10 days there would be no serious trouble in the Fraser Valley.

No new flooding was reported from the interior Tuesday.

U.S. Arms Neighbors

Envoy Recalled From Guatemala

GUATEMALA CITY (UP) — The Honduran ambassador to Guatemala Tuesday was recalled by his government.

Jacinto Octavio Duron left immediately. When he boarded the plane he said he did not believe Honduras would break diplomatic relations with Guatemala.

In another development, Foreign Minister Guillermo Torriello said his government was concerned about the United States decision to send arms to nations that are "hostile to this country."

Torriello said Secretary of State John Foster Dulles' statement that Guatemala is the best-armed country in Central America, was "a continuation of the campaign of exaggeration being waged against Guatemala."

Dulles said Tuesday the Communist shipment of $10,000,000 worth of arms to leftist Guatemala may be a move to set up a Red bastion near the Panama Canal.

Guatemala is about 750 air miles from the canal.

Dulles spoke at his press conference amid a series of nervous reactions arising from the shipment of 2,000 tons of arms from Communist-run Poland to Guatemala and a state department announcement that U.S. arms are being sent by air to Guatemala's neighbors, Nicaragua and Honduras.

Moscow radio denounced the U.S. action as preparation for "an attack against Guatemala."

Air-lifting of arms for the two Central American countries began Tuesday.

Monday night in a dispatch from Tegucigalpa, Honduras, the Chicago Tribune reported that war between Honduras and Guatemala appeared imminent.

Honduran border guards Sunday captured five armed Guatemalan Communists who had crossed over into Honduras, said the dispatch.

Violence Feared In Alaska

ANCHORAGE, Alaska (AP) — Einar Meining, business agent of the independent Alaska Fishermen's Union at Cook Inlet, announced Tuesday he is resigning and asked the Coast Guard to dispatch a cutter to the inlet to avoid bloodshed and violence between fishermen.

Meining told radio station KENI that opening of the fishing season found only 35 boats — all from the United States — operating and several hundred local fishermen refusing to fish because canneries have cut the price they will pay.

Citizens May Aid Gas Plan

TACOMA (AP) — Formation of a 20-member citizens' committe to bring natural gas to the Pacific Northwest was announced Monday by Alen Peyser, president of Tacoma's Washington Gas and Electric Company.

Peyser said the committee is taking no sides in the rivalry among several companies seeking a Federal Power Commission permit to serve the area.

He said between 200 and 300 letters have been sent to mayors and Chamber of Commerce presidents in Washington and Oregon suggesting that they send wires or letters to the FPC emphasizing this region's interest in obtaining natural gas.

An FPC examiner recently recommended that none of the applicants be granted a permit because of insufficient supplies or financing. The companies are scheduled to file reply briefs by Wednesday and begin oral arguments before the full commission June 1.

Saudi Arabia Raps Britain

CAIRO (AP)—Saudi Arabia accused Britain Tuesday night of stirring up fresh violence in the remote desert border area of Buraimi and called for an international commission to investigate the dispute.

The Saudi Arabian embassy in Cairo charged British forces killed five Saudi Arabian tribesmen May 22 and were "starving" women and children with a blockade of the oasis village of Hamasah.

The Buraimi area lies in an unmarked border area between Saudi Arabia and the coast along the Persian Gulf where Britain controls a handful of backward sheikhdoms through protectorate treaties.

Gesture Alarms Guards

GENEVA (Reuters) — The "Quirk on the draw" game is getting to be a popular pastime among spectators outside the Palace of Nations here.

Russian and Chinese Communist bodyguards at the Far East conference don't like their part in the game at all.

Spectators noted in the conference's early days that the Communist bodyguards adopt a sinister attitude — right hands kept menacingly inside their coats whenever their chiefs walk through the crowds.

So the game began. Bystanders adopted the same frightening pose.

These poses at first caused alarm among the bodyguards, who suspected an assassination attempt. Now they have got used to it and grin sourly at their imitators.

But they still keep their hands inside their coats.

Chou En-Lai Acts

China Rejects Plan Of India's Nehru

GENEVA (UP)—Communist China rejected Indian Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru's proposal for an immediate cease-fire in Indo-China, informed Geneva conference sources said.

Red Chinese Premier-Foreign Minister Chou En-Lai personally turned down the two-point plan after it had been presented to him by V. K. Krishna Menon, India's roving ambassador.

The plan, according to the sources, called for:

1. An immediate halt in the fighting.

2. Formation of a good offices committee composed of Asian neutrals to aid the two sides in working out a political settlement once the truce became effective.

Chou's action was disclosed as the East and West prepared to start the mechanics of a cease-fire at the ninth session of Indo-China peace talks.

French Foreign Minister Georges Bidault rushed back to Paris last night for urgent consultations with his government on the ceasefire proposal.

Informed sources said the Viet Minh plan calls for the partitioning of the three Indo-Chinese states of Viet Nam, Laos and Cambodia. The plan was outlined by acting Viet Minh foreign minister Pham Vandong.

Informants said the new Red proposal called also for a regrouping of the rival armed forces and exchanges of territory in all three of the associated Indo-Chinese states.

Meanwhile, the United States has "very expectation" that Britain will join the proposed anti-Communist southeast Asian alliance if it is set up, Secretary of State John Foster Dulles said in Washington.

He also told a news conference the United States would support an appeal to the United Nations to send a peace commission to embattled Indo-China.

Comet III Set To Fly

LONDON (Reuters) — Britain's latest jetliner, the de Havilland Comet III, will make its maiden flight next month, it was announced Tuesday.

Scientists Seek Sea Serpent

PARIS (NANA)—Space has been reserved for a sea serpent at the Paris Natural History Museum where a group of scientists has set out to prove that all those stories of the Loch Ness stripe are perfectly true.

To back up their considered judgment that "living fossils" still rove the ocean depths, the scientists are seeking to organize an international expedition. Britain, among other European countries, has been asked to join.

The explorers, under present plans, would plumb the depths of the Mozambique Channel off the east coast of Africa. It was in these waters that a native late in 1952 caught a five-foot coecalanth, a fish that flourished 300,000,000 years ago and which had been believed extinct for 75,000,000 years.

The French scientists believe that, like the coecalanth, the sea serpent has hung on over the eons. They cite the possibility that the surviving monsters are of the plesiosaur genus, which inhabited the seas millions of years ago. Skeletons of these beasts have been dug up from the clay near Peterborough, in Britain. In some the skull was nearly six feet in length and a single tooth was over a foot long. Thirty feet long, they propelled themselves through the water with four big paddles and ate pebbles which were kept in the stomach to help in grinding up food.

Banished or Worse?

Stalin's Son Missed In Moscow Haunts

FRANKFORT (NANA)—Lieut.-Gen. Vassily Stalin, 33-year-old son of the late Soviet dictator, has vanished from the Moscow scene, according to diplomatic reports reaching here from Moscow.

For nearly nine months now the young Stalin has not been seen in Moscow and his name has not appeared in print a single time in this period. Western diplomats believe he has been banished to the provinces or has been done away with.

It is an open secret, according to American diplomats with long service in Moscow, that Premier Stalin's arrogant, swaggering son was detested by most of the present top Soviet leadership.

Diplomatic reports also linked the disappearance with a deliberate effort now being made by the Soviet Union to play down Stalin as a great figure of the Russian revolution and re-emphasize Lenin.

At 30, Vassily Stalin was the youngest general in Russia's armed forces, a fighter pilot and head of Moscow's air defense command. Prior to Stalin's death Vassily was often seen, according to the diplomats, in Moscow night clubs and driving his wine-red, siren-equipped Mercedes-Benz convertible through Moscow's streets.

His mother was Nadezhda Alliueva, daughter of an old Bolshevik who had once sheltered Joseph Stalin from Czarist police. Vassily was born a year after their marriage, Stalin's second. The mother was found dead in Stalin's apartment in the Kremlin in November 1932. Stalin said she had committed suicide.

U.S. Navy Recalls Men

HONG KONG (UP)—The U.S. Navy canceled all liberties yesterday and ordered sailors to return to the nine ships in the harbor immediately.

The order was issued by the commander of U.S. Navy forces in the Philippines.

There were reports of increased submarine activity in the Straits of Formosa at the time the order was issued.

Queen Moves Right, Country Scenes Added

New Money To Look Different

OTTAWA (BUP) — Canada's new hard-to-imitate paper currency went on display at a private preview in the parliamentary press gallery Tuesday.

Experts from the Bank of Canada will start out across the country today to put the new bills on display in banks and newspaper offices to acquaint the public with the new currency before it is issued early in September.

Graham Towers, bank governor, unveiled the new bills bearing Queen Elizabeth's portrait in the press gallery. He explained that one thing bothering bank officials is that the counterfeiters will turn out poor imitations of the new bills during the first days of the new issue, before the public has become familiar with them.

Besides making the traditional change over to the portrait of the new sovereign, the new bills embody radical changes in design, engraving and printing methods. The changes are designed to make the bills easier to identify and harder to copy.

The bills will be one-eighth of an inch shallower, to save on paper, printing, handling and materials costs.

The portrait of the Queen appears on the right hand side of the front panel instead of the centre. It will be on a vignette background, rather than enclosed in a border. The vignette is harder to duplicate than a straight-line border.

The picture of the Queen was engraved from a photograph taken several years ago by Ottawa photographer Yousuf Karsh. It has been approved by the Queen. All copies of the picture have been destroyed.

The elaborate figures and letters known as "banknote baroque" have been changed to simple gothic and Roman letters and figures. In addition, the "lathework"—complicated fine-line scroll work and curly-cues evident on most currency—will be simplified. Experts have decided that flaws in counterfeit engravings are easier to spot when the lathe work is less elaborate.

The backs of the bills will carry pictures of typical Canadian countryside scenes.

By combining steel engraving and offset printing, and by printing on dry paper instead of damp paper as at present, the new bills will be given color tints and surface textures that will be impossible to duplicate without the same costly, custom built presses used for the bank's notes, Towers said.

Although denomination colors will not be changed, a universal of the background plate on the face of the notes will give the effect of two colors in addition to black.

Parade Widely Enjoyed—But Spurs Many Queries

Victorians, for the most part, enjoyed their May 24 parade.

There were no criticisms from the younger element. But along the route there were some caustic comments.

Where were the floats from the big city businesses? Where were the representations of all the Greater Victoria schools? Where were the men of the permanent army? Where were the RCMP horses and why should the Mounties march in spurs?

These were typical queries.

DISAPPOINTMENT

"Anyone who saw the parade could see for himself how much room there was for those people who, by all accounts, should have been well represented," said Frank Hunter, chairman of the Greater Victoria Celebrations Association.

Bitter disappointment was expressed by association officials over the lack of support of business and schools.

"Some of the big firms, who have a large turnover of business here, should certainly have been represented," Mr. Hunter said.

EXCEPTIONS

But not only were city merchants conspicuous by their absence, Mr. Hunter pointed out. "The school authorities don't seem to approve of the parade, either," he said.

Exceptions were S. J. Willis Junior High and the band formed by pupils of Victoria High and Central Junior High Schools.

There "considerable room for extension and improvement of the parade" mentioned by Mr. Hunter will be considered by the Greater Victoria Celebrations Association at its next meeting in mid-June.

The parade got its biggest shot in the arm from bands and units from outside the area—Seattle, Vancouver, Bellingham and Aberdeen, Washington.

The navy and reserve military units gave their very best effort.

And the Chinese community made a gratifying effort, Mr. Hunter said.

Danish Viking (Canadian) Association, grand award and also winner in the Parade of Nations section.

Perfection of Old Ceremonial Marks Queen's Color Parade

A centuries-old ritual, watched with deep emotion by some 8,000 people, was the highlight of the May 24 observance of Victoria Day.

The Royal Canadian Navy paraded the Queen's Color in front of the Legislative Buildings in a ceremonial drill which had polish and precision that would have done credit to any unit of the Brigade of Guards.

The white silk ensign which carries the crown and Royal cipher has been paraded only twice since it was presented in 1939 by King George VI. There are only 13 naval colors in the whole of the Commonwealth.

Moving faultlessly in a drill that has not varied in hundreds of years, men of the RCN marched the Queen's Color from HMCS Sioux at CPR wharf to the Legislative Buildings for salute by Lieutenant-Governor Clarence Wallace.

Scrupulously observing the ceremonial tradition, the color guard was made up of 100 men. The number never varies.

Nor can the Queen's Color be landed on foreign soil, nor paraded aboard ship.

The color guard and the 70-man escort were followed by 100 officer-cadets hauling a saluting battery of three field guns.

The Color was carried, again by unvarying tradition, by an officer who is escorted by a chief and two petty officers.

The tradition of showing the color to the guard and escort companies was accomplished in the ritual manner when Lieut. Robert Carle and his escorts slow-marched past each line of men in the assembly.

After the inspection, which was taken by the Lieut.-Governor accompanied by Rear Admiral J. C. Hibbard, Flag Officer Pacific Command, and Commodore Kenneth Dyer, commanding HMCS Naden, the naval battery fired seven guns.

The color guard's firing of the difficult "feu de joie" in which 100 men each fires his rifle separately and consecutively, was in perfect timing.

The second round of the feu de joie was fired after the band of HMCS Naden played the first half of the national anthem, and a third round, also perfect in timing, was loosed off after the final bars of "The Queen."

The field guns fired a 21-gun salute in three sections.

Highway Speeder Fined at Sidney

SIDNEY—Westley M. Hollinshead of HMCS Naden was fined $20 and costs when convicted in Sidney provincial court Saturday for exceeding the speed limit on Patricia Bay Highway.

Donald MacFarlane of Sidney was fined $10 and $6.50 costs on a drunk charge.

Seven Scale Prison Wall

NORFOLK, Mass. (AP)—Seven prisoners climbed a wall and escaped at Norfolk prison colony early Tuesday. Officials said all were considered dangerous. Officials said the men used a makeshift scaling ladder—a rod with a hook on it—hooked the rod on the top of the wall, shinned up, and then leaped to the ground.

OSLO (AP)—Delegates from all over the world assembled Monday for the largest Red Cross conference in history. They will discuss the organization's future rule in disaster relief, and a common stand on atomic warfare.

New Idiom, Old Setting

Paleface visitors to the Indian ceremonies at the Songhees reservation on Monday thought for a moment they were in the wrong reservation—in Flatbush territory, perhaps.

An Indian master of ceremonies in a sharp suit announced over the loudspeaker in what was almost a Brooklyn accent: "Okay, folks, let's get this deal on the road."

Church Ceremony To Come

Ancient Marriage Rites Highlight Indian Festival

Ancient marriage rites of Vancouver Island Indians were witnessed by about 5,000 people attending the second annual Indian Festival held on the Songhees Reservation at Plumper Bay over the holiday week end.

The wedding ceremony, long relegated to history, was the highlight of Sunday's celebrations staged by the Indians.

The principals in the marriage rites were Molly Claxton and Harry Underwood, who will be married again, this time according to the white man's law, in the near future.

The festival was attended by hundreds of Indians from all over Vancouver Island and from parts of Washington.

SAANICH WINNERS

Winners in the war canoe races were the 11 men of the Saanich team, captained by Vic Underwood. West Saanich and Songhees were runners-up.

The single paddle race was won by Vincent Barry, Malahat, and the winners of the double paddle race were Vincent Harry and Wes Edwards, both of Malahat.

Log birling champion of Vancouver Island was Art Wickham of Sooke.

Chief Mungo Martin and his son, David, directed a troupe of ceremonial dancers, and a group under direction of Chief Adam Siwash, Alberni, also danced and sang traditional Indian songs.

Wind Spoils Boat Races

Too much wind ruined the May 24 boat races off Willows Beach, and disappointed an estimated 3,000 fans.

The Victoria Inboard and Outboard Association racing meet held only two races before the program was canceled.

Class B contest winner was Pat Cooper in "It'll Do." In the hydroplane event, J. J. McGuire in "Miss Fire" took first place.

CAMDEN, N.Y. (AP) — Tent catterpillars swarmed in trees by thousands here Tuesday and residents of this central New York State village fought the invasion with torches, insecticides and streams of water. The pests stripped the leaves from many apple, cherry and maple trees, littered the sidewalks and made walking hazardous.

BY LELORD KORDEL

ROAST FOWL WITH ORIENTAL STUFFING

Stuffing

1 cup brown rice.
¼ cup cooking oil or melted butter.
1 cup minced onion or chives (the latter give a milder flavor).
1 cup chopped celery and parsley.
1 cup chopped green pepper.
1 tsp. chopped garlic.
1 large apple, peeled and diced.
2 eggs, beaten.
2 tbsp. grated Romano cheese.
2 cups broth from cooked giblets.
Chopped giblets.
¾ tsp. salt.
3 tbsp. sunflower seed meal (optional).
Pinch of thyme.
Pinch of sweet marjoram, leaf or powdered.
Dash of mace or nutmeg.
Pinch of summer savory.
Pinch of rosemary.

Wash the brown rice. Use a deep heavy skillet and brown the rice lightly in half the melted shortening over a moderate fire. Add the broth from the cooked giblets, cover lightly and allow to cook over a slow fire for about 20 minutes, or until the rice is about half done.

Meanwhile, saute the minced onion or chives, garlic, celery and green pepper in the remainder of the oil, then add together with the apple, cheese, chopped giblets, herbs, parsley, beaten eggs, salt and sunflower seed meal to the rice, mixing thoroughly.

Fill the salted and oiled cavity of the fowl, being careful not to pack too full, since the rice will continue to swell during the roasting period. Wild rice (soaked beforehand according to the directions on the package) makes an even more delicious stuffing.

Of course, with the rice stuffing such as this, you'll not serve potatoes or bread, in order to keep the meal predominantly high-protein.

FISH FILETS IN SOUR SAUCE

1 large, or 2 smaller fillets per serving (cod, halibut, sole, flounder, whitefish and fresh tuna are some of the types from which to select).
3 tbsp. butter or cooking oil.
2½ cups meat or chicken stock.
1 small onion, or 2 tbsp. chopped chives or leeks.
1½ tsp. salt.
4 tbsp. cooking wine, lemon juice, or wine vinegar.
3 tbsp. millet meal.
3 nasturtium seeds, pinch of dill seeds, or chopped sprig of fresh dill.
Pinch of sweet basil.

Remove skin from the filets, rinse well and wipe. Rub salt well into each filet, and allow to stand for about one hour, wiping again. Melt half the fat in a heavy skillet, brown the onion, if used, lightly; but if chives are substituted add them to the sauce a few minutes before removing from the fire. Put the filets in the pan with the hot oil and browned onions.

Add half the stock (exact amount will depend upon the quantity of fish prepared) and half the wine or lemon juice. Cover and allow to simmer gently over a low fire for 10 to 15 minutes.

Meanwhile, prepare the sauce by heating the balance of the fat in a saucepan, remove from stove, blend in the millet meal to a smooth paste, then gradually stir in the remaining stock. Salt to taste.

Boil for 5 to 8 minutes, stirring until smooth and thickened, then add the remainder of the wine or lemon juice and pour over the filets that have been placed on a hot platter. Sprinkle with paprika and serve with small new potatoes steamed in their jackets, a vegetable salad and a custard pudding.

ITALIAN BAKED FISH WITH STUFFING

1 large baking fish.
6 tbsp. cooking oil or melted butter.
4 tbsp. chopped chives.
1 clove garlic.
1 cup whole-grain bread crumbs.
2 tbsp. milk.
4 tbsp. grated Romano cheese.
4 tbsp. chopped fresh or canned mushrooms.
1 tbsp. chopped parsley.
1 tbsp. chopped fresh mint, or fresh dill (2 tsp. crushed dill seeeds may be used instead), salt to taste.
1 lemon, sliced.

Choose any of the following for baked fish: whitefish, large trout, pompano, salmon, red snapper, pickeral, mackerel, halibut, haddock, cod, bluefish, swordfish or shad. Have the fish cleaned, slit down the centre, and boned.

Rub the inside well with salt and cooking oil. Prepare the stuffing by heating the peeled garlic clove in three tablespoons of the oil in a heavy skillet. Remove the garlic if only a mild flavor is desired, otherwise allow to remain in the stuffing.

Then saute the mushrooms and parsley in the garlic-flavored oil for about 15 minutes. Remove from the fire.

Using a large mixing bowl, combine the mushrooms with the bread crumbs, milk (stuffing must be slightly moist but not too soft to remain in the fish), herbs, cheese and salt to taste. Stuff the fish, then sew or skewer edges firmly together. Place in an open baking pan in which the remainder of oil or butter has been melted.

Bake in a moderate (350 degrees Fahrenheit) oven for about 30 to 35 minutes, or until the fish is tender. Remove to a warmed platter, garnish with lemon slices, and serve with a tossed green salad, a cooked green vegetable and a fruit custard.

Garden Notes

Cherry Trees Can Be Small

BY M. V. CHESNUT, FRHS

Flowering cherries are such attractive ornamental trees that it is little wonder we all want to plant them in our gardens. Unfortunately, with a few notable exceptions, most of them are just too big for the average city garden. Many, many times I have seen a flowering cherry set out in the middle of a pocket-handkerchief lawn, only to take over and dominate the whole plot in a few years. This can be avoided by the correct choice of varieties.

For the really small garden, one excellent flowering cherry is Prunus Incisa. I know of one specimen planted about 12 years ago, and in spite of the fact that it has received practically no pruning at all, it is really no bigger than a large bush today. It is about eight feet high, and about the same width, and in April its many twiggy stems are smothered in small white flowers before the foliage appears.

TALL, SLIM

Quite different is the Japanese cherry, Amanogowa. This one has a growth habit like a Lombardy poplar, with its branches all reaching upward. While it grows to a height of around 10 feet, the whole tree is so narrow and columnar in form it can be grown in a tiny garden without casting too much shade. Amanogowa produces dense clusters of very fragrant pale pink flowers in late April and May, and with its neat shape and trouble-free existence, I have often wondered why it is not used more freely in the planting of city boulevards.

Another superb cherry which seldom exceeds 10 feet in height is Jo-nioi, which covers itself profusely in May with dazzling white flowers. There is another which, if you can afford the space, produces a short, wide, flat-headed tree looking rather like the ones you see in Japanese prints. This is Prunus serrulata longipes, and it bears really exquisite flowers of pure white, and fully double.

PRETTY BUT BIG

A real beauty is Kwanzan, the double pink cherry, and there is a magnificent specimen of this one in front of a house on Tattersal Drive, but it makes a tree as big as a fully grown orchard cherry and is rather difficult to fit into the small garden. The Yoshino cherry, too, is a bit too vigorous for the average small garden, although its blush-pink cherry blossoms are entrancing. This is the one which is planted in its thousands in the streets of Tokyo.

One rather unique cherry is Prunus serrulata tibetica. Its flowers are nothing to write home about, but it is planted solely for the beauty of its bark. In the depth of winter, the old bark flakes off the trunk and branches, revealing a rich, mahogany-red, highly polished under-surface. For the winter beauty of its bark alone, this cherry was granted an Award of Merit from the Royal Horticultural Society.

Wag Was Right; Fireworks Lull Was Show's End

They all laughed when a wag shouted "That's all, folks," during what appeared to be a lull near the beginning of the city's Victoria Day firework display Monday night.

But the wag was right.

The thousands who blanketed the seaward slope of Beacon Hill in watch the annual display couldn't believe it.

Most of them sat waiting for the show to resume for an additional 10 minutes (the display had taken the previous 10) before trudging glumly back to cars which some of them had parked about two hours earlier.

"That show must have put the tax rate up a mill," a voice from the night shouted.

"It must have cost all of $3.75," came the answer from up the road. Nobody laughed.

Those who were first to realize the show was over ran into a jam of cars which had encountered a minor delay and missed the entire show.

Even the police traffic detail didn't realize the show was over, and road barriers remained in place causing new jams until police rushed to remove them.

Most spectators liked what they saw of the display. The third star shell was considered the most effective although some thought the 21st, and last, took the cake.

Busy Police Force Keeps Cars Moving

Parking more than 900 cars on a Beacon Hill Park soccer pitch was one of the chores smoothly handled by city police during the holiday week-end.

The cars conveyed some of the thousands of people who flocked to the waterfront Monday night to witness the fire-work display.

Victorians drove carefully during the holiday, and the city accident figure was light. But dealing with traffic snarls and parking problems kept them busy.

The force was so hard-pressed at one stage (Sunday afternoon) that Chief John Blackstock took over in the charge office when the rest of his men were called out.

Six members of the Seattle Police Drill team not only participated in the pageant at Royal Athletic Park Sunday afternoon, but helped direct heavy traffic clear of the area at the end of the show.

But there was one young Mountie near the Songhees reservation whose face was as scarlet as his coat. He had re- [illegible] for the Indian festival up a side-road before he discovered that after a mile it was a blind-end.

'Rodeo' Spills, Thrills Please Park Audience

Skids and spills were all part of the show Monday when the Victoria Motorcycle Club "rodeo" was held at Macdonald Park.

A motorcycle jump from a 12-inch ramp at a mile a minute over the bodies of 13 other riders provided the thrill of the rodeo. Jumper was Wes Morhart.

A motorcycle crash was staged by Ian Hjorsley, who drove his bike through a flaming wall on one-inch plank. Another spectacular stunt that brought a roar of applause from the crowd was a ride by Al Lewis in a standing position atop a six-foot ladder mounted on his bike.

He ultimately toppled, but was unhurt.

Thetis Island May See Oil-Drilling

Special to the Colonist

THETIS ISLAND—Prospect of early drilling for oil on this island is seen within the year.

Property owners have been approached by Royalite Oil Company for renewal of leases taken out five years ago.

Thetis Island lies off Ladysmith, on the east coast of Vancouver Island, about 55 sea miles north of Victoria.

Five years ago Royalite drilled in the Queen Charlotte Islands but the boom on the prairies required all available drilling rigs and the B.C. Islands' operations were discontinued.

Victoria commercial circles saw the Royalite move as an outcome of the new Oil and Gas Act which requires drilling on leases or payment of penalty.

Going to Chair

WARREN, Pa. (AP)—Norman Moon, 28, who shot a judge to death in a courtroom here while he faced a non-support charge, stood pale and wan in the same courtroom early Tuesday to hear a jury doom him to the electric chair.

The jury found Moon guilty of first-degree murder in the slaying of Judge Allison D. Wade, 52, last January 13, and recommended the supreme penalty.

The Vancouver club beat the JBAA earlier in the day in the novice fours, and also beat Penticton in four-man ¾-mile race.

French Plan To Strengthen Hanoi Forces

HANOI (UP)—The French high command last night announced a drastic redeployment of forces in Indo-China to throw fresh units totaling a full division into the defense of the Communist-menaced Red River delta around Hanoi.

"Sizable" reinforcements also were reported on the way from France. The Paris government promised still more troops, expected to come from North Africa and French-occupied Germany.

An army spokesman said in Saigon the overhaul of the defenses in the delta was ordered after the fall of Dien Bien Phu.

Sea-going trailers

A WESTERN shipper thought this one up. He handles freight to and from Alaska by means of aluminum vans which are loaded, driven to the dock, and there lifted by cranes from their chassis into the ship's hold. Saves a lot of cargo handling, damage and pilfering. The vans can be individually heated or refrigerated to protect special cargoes, too.

More than a thousand different Canadian companies keep busy turning Canadian-made aluminum into everything from ash trays to minesweepers. And it keeps as busy wondering how next they will use this modern metal to save weight, or time, or trouble, or dollars for somebody. Aluminum Company of Canada, Ltd. (Alcan).

May There Be No Chinook

IT is disconcerting for British Columbia to remain poised on the brink of a serious flood crisis week after week and not to know whether or not the threat will eventuate. All of the antecedents making for flood conditions are there with one exception — the Chinook winds at night. If the province is lucky, the next three weeks may pass with nights as cool as they have been generally during the present month. In that event, the run-off from the hills would in all probability get away to sea without doing any abnormal damage. If the warm winds come, however, the flood could start at once and in the present set-up could be extremely damaging.

Apart from the confusion it leaves on the ground in farm areas by the silting of lands and the submergence of growing crops, a widespread flood in the Fraser, Thompson and Columbia river systems would strike a heavy blow at British Columbia's internal economy. The products of the orchard, field and root crops create from one-fourth to one-third of this province's primary trading assets abroad, besides being essential to the domestic market. By comparison, if the province were to lose a material percentage of its forest output through fire, or the major part of its fish catch through the absence of the normal runs, the loss would not be more immediate or worse.

The provincial government has done well to take the danger of flooding in a matter of fact way, without hysteria on the one hand or indifference on the other. Dikes strengthened in the last rampage of the river systems have been kept up to standard and are being closely watched. At least emergent machinery for rehousing the people and quartering livestock has been made ready. At hand also are the civil defense and other groups in each B.C. area that is at all likely to be exposed should the worst happen. All of this precaution is timely, and if it is needed at all it will certainly be required instantly and in volume.

Our hope, however, is that the situation may be eased gradually with the passing of the next few weeks, and that no Chinook wind will come at the critical moment to set flood waters on the rampage.

School for Bad Drivers

SOME time ago in discussing the problems created by that type of motorist described as "accident-prone," we suggested that the authorities might find it profitable to establish compulsory schools of instruction for those repeatedly involved in collisions or traffic violations. The idea was put forward without any claim of originality. Schools for bad drivers have been conducted in other parts of the world for many years, and by all accounts they serve a useful purpose. Troublesome drivers sentenced to attendance there treat them with great respect.

These schools are altogether different from classes in high schools designed to impart sound driving and safety practices to young beginners, enrolling on a voluntary basis. The schools for bad drivers are run by the police or other governmental authority, and are for all ages. A motorist who demonstrates by frequently getting into trouble that he is incapable of driving safely and well is ordered to attend night classes, and his license is suspended until he has finished the course and satisfied the examiners that he has learned his lessons thoroughly. Such a sentence imposed by a police magistrate is severe punishment in itself, since it deprives the offender of much leisure time, but more important it has definite corrective value.

It is interesting to see that action along these lines has been recommended to the Alberta government by the Alberta Safety Council, in convention in Edmonton last week. In doing so the council noted that the majority of highway accidents resulted from the actions of a small minority of drivers, the "repeaters" who are now receiving special attention from the insurance companies.

British Columbia, following Manitoba's example, has adopted measures to deal with repeaters. Under a system of demerit points a bad, careless or unskillful driver is liable to have his license suspended at the discretion of the superintendent of motor vehicles when his demerits reaches a certain total, and already scores of motorists have been "grounded" on that account. Those so disciplined must undergo re-examination before they can regain their licenses. The night school plan might prove a useful extension of that system, for the remedial influence of regular attendance at classes of instruction would be stronger than mere punitive withdrawal of the privilege of driving.

Playing the Anthem

THE suggestion has been made that the local movie theatres should play the national anthem during the brief intermission period rather than at the end of the evening's program. This idea is voiced because of the habit many people have of rushing from their seats in haste to leave the theatre, thus ignoring the anthem. At best indeed the observance is perfunctory, even by those who stand still—usually in an impatient mood. Better even than a switch in timing might be the omission of the anthem altogether at ordinary movie showings.

A national anthem should be something above and beyond the normal rote and if it were reserved for occasions in keeping with its theme more sincerity would accompany its observance. There can be little doubt about this. How the anthem came to be a standard part of movie programs is perhaps peculiar, for seldom do motion pictures reflect the kind of atmosphere befitting a reminder of the Queen or become compatible with the prayer the anthem offers on her behalf. It does no good to national sentiment to have the national anthem simply dragged in at any function, the result then being merely to depreciate what should be a moving and special tribute.

The national anthem is played far too often, far too casually, and with far too little attention paid to its observance. Better then by far that it should be taken out of the run-of-the-mill class and given special significance. The setting of the occasion is everything. Only where it seems to belong, where its playing will dovetail with the proceedings, should the anthem properly take its place. That most certainly is not the case at the ordinary movie program, and the cure there for current indifference is not to shift its place in the program but to omit it. The anthem would gain in virtue by being treasured as something to be played only in appropriate circumstances.

Arms Risk in Central America

BY J. M. ROBERTS, JR.
Associated Press News Analyst

THE United States, carrying out its policy of giving regional aid whenever the neighbors are trying to prevent Communist expansion, is running a calculated risk in Central America.

Ever since the days of the old filibusters, who armed partisan groups and conducted their own rebellions, the very presence of arms in this area has constituted a threat to the peace. That was recognized very quickly in the case of Guatemala, which bought a large shipment of Communist arms.

It is not evident in the cases of Nicaragua and Honduras, which will be held accountable to the United States for the use to which arms, now being shipped, will be put. However, if any of these arms, or those they might replace, should slip into the hands of filibusters, or of exiled Guatemalans who advocate an armed rebellion to put down the Communist-infiltrated regime in their homeland, a critical situation might be created.

The tension in that area already beset by border clashes and a diplomatic break between Nicaragua and Guatemala, could spread into something quite different.

Early political action to identify United States policy formally with Latin American desires regarding Guatemala is essential.

Secretary of State Dulles is making a point of the fact that the current arms shipments to Nicaragua and Honduras are being made at their request, under duly negotiated assistance treaties, and after they have expressed fear of more heavily armed Guatemala.

This presumably will be followed by invocation of the Caracas resolution which said "domination or control" of any American state by the International Communist movement would be a threat to American peace.

* * *

The Inter-American Council is not expected to take any material steps beyond expression of public opinion. If there is sufficient unanimity on that point, however, Guatemala will be gradually subjected to pressure which would weaken the Communist power in the government and give moderate elements a chance to organize.

Thinking Aloud

Gerald Waring

"... of shoes—and ships—and sealing wax—of cabbages and kings"

By TOM TAYLOR

ONCE it was that the slogan was a war cry; it identified a pal and boosted morale, just as a cheer leader heartens his team with one of those "rah, rah, rah" shouts.

It still has a military ring—"Up the Buffs" or "Van Doo, Van Doo," for instance — but civilians have taken it over. Think of the plane that goes aloft to spell in smoke six easy words that mean, perhaps, moonlight soap.

What radio announcers—or more correctly their sponsors—would do without glittering spoken captions I don't know, and I'm sure they don't either. It was the battle slogan that made possible such succinct masterpieces as "so slim, so smooth, so easy on the lips," and I leave you to guess whether that refers to cold cream or hot tobacco.

The good slogan is priceless to business. It will sell anything. Even the skeptic will be persuaded if it's catchy and he hears it often enough.

This is part of the secret—repetition. Hitler knew that, and so do beef barons and tinplate tycoons. So do every mother's son of us but we fall hard just the same. It's so much easier to queue up with one's mouth open and voice some snappy generality that's in current favor than it is to think for one's self. Thinking, alas, is hard work.

A good idea neatly capsuled in ready-made language will usually captivate the lazy mind.

A certain predictor of things to come, I haven't listened to him in years so don't know if he's still selling his wares "86 per cent correct" was his slogan—was wont to wind up his prophecies with "make democracy live." That's a slogan too, although it's becoming so outworn it's grown shabby.

Even a slogan can deteriorate into a ritual, a movement without meaning whether of the legs or lips. And democracy, that blessed but much abused word, has been handmaiden of misconception too long. It's been sloganized out of recognition.

But because a slogan sells soaps, soups, scissors and sausages it is not to be despised.

It has a more powerful attribute even than the facility with which it extracts money from the pocket. It can incite a mob to baseness, it can exalt a group to goodness. "Tipperary" has all the virtues of a slogan; so has "Onward Christian Soldiers."

The power then of these simple eloquent phrases is enormous. They appeal so strongly by the ease with which they are remembered that we should differentiate between them.

The slogan that would twist your thinking, or supply you with an ideology you can't be bothered to think through, is the sinister sentence to watch. Otherwise you might find yourself the prisoner of your own mistaken notions.

Remember that the world, or any of its complex facets, can't be reduced to a neatly-packaged four-or five-word formula. Ideas may have legs, as someone said, but they need trousers to fatten them out.

The original slogan was a shout, not a panacea.

Reports from Ottawa

IN Nova Scotia they're booming the federal minister of public works, Robert H. Winters, as the next premier of the province.

In Ottawa some MPs see Bob Winters as a strong contender for the national Liberal leadership if Prime Minister St. Laurent's retirement is postponed until after the next election.

Thus the 43-year-old Lunenburger is facing what may be the most important decision of his political career. Should he answer a call to fill the shoes of the late Angus L. Macdonald? Or should he stay in federal politics, where eventually he is almost certain to succeed C. D. Howe as the engineer-statesman directing the national economy, and where he has a chance of picking off the top job?

There's been pressure on Winters for the last three weeks to seek the premiership of Nova Scotia. He hasn't said yes or no. He's now on a five weeks' visit to the Mediterranean, with time to consider the matter carefully. He'll base his choice, he told a mutual friend, on where he believes he can best serve the people of Nova Scotia.

The "Draft Winters" movement isn't due to any lack of able men already in the provincial field. Health and Welfare Minister Harold Connolly, who took over the premiership when Macdonald died, might well carry the Liberal convention if Winters is not a candidate. And there are others.

But the spare, esthetic figure of Angus L. has so dominated Nova Scotia politics for the last two decades that none of the provincial Grits has the stature of Winters, who built his career in Ottawa, away from the shadow of Angus L.

But by having made his mark in the federal field with his cleanup of the Film Board, far-sighted policies on housing and resources development, and his shakeup of the inefficient Works Department, Winters has become a national figure.

It's a long step from that to the prime ministership, but people are beginning to think that maybe in four or five years Bob Winters' long legs would make it.

There's little doubt that Winters' political stock has been climbing faster recently than that of any other member of the cabinet. He's moving rapidly out of the "junior minister" category—as witness his expert squelching of George Drew last week when the Conservative leader implied that Winters' department was at least partly responsible for the Ontario highways scandal.

While Winters has been adding to his prestige, other possible successors to the PM have not been shining. Finance Minister Abbott's position on the Quebec income tax appears to have offended a large segment of Quebec opinion. Moreover, he hasn't denied reports that he will soon quit public life. Foreign Minister Pearson seems interested only in foreign affairs. Immigration Minister Harris, Health Minister Martin and Defense Minister Claxton have been relatively in the background.

If the Grits held a national convention tomorrow, Winters would be a long shot. But Prime Minister St. Laurent is in excellent health, and the likelihood grows stronger daily that he'll lead his party through another election.

With another four or five years' experience, Winters might well be the man to beat when the Liberals meet to choose a new leader.

The Packsack

Of GREGORY CLARK

OUR familiar waitress told the four of us at lunch what a wonderfully kind man the restaurant owner is. Another waitress was slowly going crazy with troubles at home: a resident mother-in-law, a quarrelsome husband and a 10-year-old boy who was already on the books of the juvenile court. What did the restaurant owner do? What a great many employers wouldn't be bothered doing. He went and straightened the whole situation out. Usually, a boss just fires a girl who can't pay attention to her work because of trouble at home.

The owner brings a cup of coffee over and sits with us after we have eaten, for a few minutes. We congratulate him on the goodwill he apparently has established with his help. We referred to what Jeanie had told us.

"Aw, that!" said our friend. "That isn't goodwill, that's good business. I don't want my employees bringing their troubles to work. You would be surprised how many man hours and woman hours are wasted every day in this city in brooding over private worries. Clerks in stores, guys sitting at desks apparently intent on their ledgers, salesmen going from place to place on their calls: all wasting their employers' time mooning over personal difficulties. But you would also be surprised how many employers take time off and even spend a little money to straighten out the private lives of their employees. That is, of course, if the employee is any good.

"In the case of this girl I helped, she is one of the best waitresses I ever had, and I'd hate to lose her. I noticed she was getting careless, her mind seemed to be somewhere else all them time. So I had a chat with her. She told me the setup at home. I called that night and visited them. I told them, the husband, the mother-in-law and the little boy, just exactly how they were stealing a good waitress from me. I spoke only for myself. To selfish people, it was the perfect approach. They were angry at first. But when I pointed out that if she was too distracted to work for me, she would be probably too distracted to work for anybody, they cooled off. The mother-in-law moved to live with a daughter, the husband is much improved in temper, and the small boy has for the first time a sense of responsibility for his mother's job.

"Business is business," said the restaurant owner, with a wink.

Russia Plays With Fire

By DOROTHY THOMPSON

IN dealing with the Asian revolution—initially inspired by a universal revolt against colonialism and alien rule, interests, cultures and traditions — Russia is playing with fires very dangerous to herself. It is important for us to see this, because it is important neither to under-rate nor over-rate the position of one's adversaries.

The theory that a common ideology creates permanent bonds between states and societies transcendant to all other conditions such as race, culture, and rival ambitions is not sustained by history—including very recent history—nor by common sense. Russia (the Russian empire), a Eurasian power, comprises some 165 nationalities among whom the most western, the Slavs, are numerically the strongest, the most advanced, and occupy most positions of leadership. But it includes, also, non-slavic and Central Asian eastern peoples whose permanent loyalty to Moscow is dubious. Russia's eastern frontiers are quiet as vulnerable as her western, and almost all Russia was once conquered from the east and long paid tribute to the descendants of Genghis Khan.

The whole history of Russia's eastern policy shows that whether under tsar or commissar, she always has feared (and for excellent reasons) the consolidation of Asia under a single Asian power. She feared Japan's attempt to establish such hegemony, saw merits in "Asians fighting Asians," and heartily welcomed—though she had a treaty with Japan—the Japanese-American war.

It may be laid down as axiomatic that Russia cannot wish to see China, under whatever leadership, inherit the position that Japan coveted but failed to achieve. For a China governing all of Southeast Asia and stationed right on Russia's frontiers eventually would be enormously stronger than the Soviet Union itself. China is several times as numerous in population, her people are far more adept as colonizers, her leaders are formidably intelligent and of boundless ambition.

The Asian revolution is thus creating a Frankenstein potentially more menacing to Russia than to any western country because it is right in Russia's backyard.

What would best serve Russian interests in the east is a war in Asia from which she could stand aloof until or unless her intervention during the final stage of the conflict would give her the decisive role, with the least expenditure of blood and energy.

This is precisely what she tried to do in the Second World War on both fronts, succeeding in the east.

If this analysis is correct—and in politics all depends upon the correctness of analysis—how stupid to play the Russian game!

If the West and, in particular, the United States, embroils herself in Asia on a terrain, in a form of warfare, and in a political atmosphere that, Communist, anti-Communist, or neutral, is revolutionarily Asiatic and anti-Western, whose interests will be served? Who will pull the chestnuts out of the fire?

The American mind is impatient always for immediate solutions, indisposed to take a long view, and largely incapacitated by the education of the last generation and by Gallup poll democracy to hard, precise analysis.

Once we, too, understood the superior value of saying the last word instead of the first one.

Now we do not even know the value of occasional silence. So within a month our leaders have said directly contradictory things about the importance of Indo-China, both positions broadcast to the ends of the earth.

There should be time off for thinking.

No Help for Dying Woman

Esquimalt To Probe Refusal by Hospital

Esquimalt council will likely launch a full-scale investigation into the reason why a Carlisle Street woman was refused admittance to Victoria hospitals as she lay dying in her home.

The council last night decided, however, that certain alleged facts must first be verified.

The move came after council had been addressed by Harry Thurgood, 1216 Carlisle, who asked that the municipality buy life-saving equipment to prevent further occurrences of this nature.

"My wife died like a dog in a ditch," said Mr. Thurgood. "She didn't have a chance."

REFUSED BED

He said that on April 29 his wife had a stroke in the business section of Esquimalt. She was taken home by a passer-by and a doctor was called. The doctor tried to get a hospital bed but it was stated that none was available at either Royal Jubilee or St. Joseph's Hospitals.

At about 7 p.m.—eight hours after the stroke—the doctor again tried to get Mrs. Thurgood admitted to a hospital, but without success.

Shortly before 9 p.m. that night Mrs. Thurgood had another spasm and the police were called to bring oxygen equipment, he said.

CAME TOO LATE

The police had no such equipment but some was sent by the navy. Mr. Thurgood said the response was good, but his wife had died by the time it arrived.

"It is my duty as a ratepayer to ask you to put in that necessary equipment that may one day save a life in a similar occurrence," said Mr. Thurgood. "Seconds count, and had the municipality had such equipment my wife's life might have been saved."

Reeve A. C. Wurtele said he had gone into the whole matter immediately he had heard about it. Resuscitation equipment, however, had to be operated by experienced persons. It was highly dangerous to let unskilled men operate the machines, he said.

The navy had the experienced personnel and the equipment, and was on the job as quickly as possible.

NEED EXPLANATION

"We need a full explanation why this patient was not admitted to a hospital," interjected Clr. G. K. Sammon. "As long as we are paying a per diem rate to city hospitals, people in this area should get consideration."

He said there was a layman as administrator at one of the hospitals and asked if it had been this man who had refused.

"Did a layman go over the head of a doctor and refuse admittance?" he asked.

"That is what I have been trying to establish," countered Reeve Wurtele.

Mr. Thurgood said it had happened once and could happen again. If it did occur again, "this council will have a very hard job getting out from under."

The government of B.C. had breached its contract with the people, said Mr. Thurgood. "The government, which is represented by the BCHIS, entered into a contract to supply hospital beds if and when needed.

"There was no shortage of beds," he said. "My wife's bed was paid for in advance."

Clr. J. Carey said the whole trouble revolved around why Mrs. Thurgood had not been admitted to hospital.

A letter from the Trades and Labor Congress asking for the council's support in demanding a government inquiry into the matter was also read. A letter to Premier W. A. C. Bennett from the congress was enclosed.

The council decided to lay the matter on the table while the reeve and other council members verified the facts.

Ex-Officer Pays Penalty For Murder

CORNWALL, Ont. (CP) — Peter Balcombe, 24-year-old father of two children, was hanged early Tuesday for the murder of Marie Anne Carriere, the attractive reserve army sergeant he lured into a romance.

The former army lieutenant walked unfalteringly to the gallows in the courtyard of the old jail. He was pronounced dead at 15 minutes after the trap door slammed open.

"He didn't utter a word," said sheriff D. A. McNaughton. "He refused stimulants."

As Balcombe was about to climb the 13 steps to face the executioner he stopped momentarily to shake hands with the jail governor, an archdeacon of the Anglican Church and the deputy sheriff.

TCP
gives you up to 15% unexpected power from your engine

Blended into Shell Premium Gasoline, TCP* releases power locked in by lead and carbon deposits. It's the greatest gasoline development in 31 years.

You'll feel your engine's had a tune-up before you've finished your second tankful.

YES, your engine may be 15% more powerful than you think!

And the reason is this:

Lead and carbon deposits are constantly building up in your engine. They "lock-in" power that you should be getting.

These deposits get red hot and set off the fuel charge ahead of time . . . before the piston reaches its proper firing position. Power works against you—not for you. This condition is called pre-ignition, and automotive engineers consider it the biggest cause of power loss.

You also lose power when these deposits make your spark plugs misfire. Building-up on spark plug insulators, they short-circuit the spark.

Both of these power robbers—pre-ignition and short-circuited spark plugs—are at their worst when you need power most—when climbing a hill or accelerating.

Now, however, you can change all this. TCP, a Shell-discovered additive, blended into Shell Premium Gasoline releases the "captive power" in your engine.

First, it "fireproofs" the deposits in your combustion chambers—to stop pre-ignition. Second, by making the deposits non-conductive, TCP additive stops the short-circuiting of your spark plugs.

Shell Premium with TCP acts quickly, too. In fact, before you've finished your second tankful, you'll feel your engine's had a tune-up. But, remember, because these deposits accumulate constantly, continued use of Shell Premium with TCP additive is essential to retain its full benefits. It is the greatest gasoline development since the discovery of tetraethyl lead.

Shell Premium with TCP is available only at your Shell Dealer's.

*Shell's Trademark for this unique gasoline additive developed by Shell Research. Patent applied for.

MacMillan Tells Plans

PORT ALBERNI—The prospect of the vast area between the Beaufort Range and the west coast of Vancouver Island being opened to the public through construction of logging truck roads was presented by H. R. MacMillan, chairman of MacMillan & Bloedel Ltd., at a ceremony Monday marking the change from rail to truck logging in the valley.

Mr. MacMillan presented the city of Port Alberni with the Two Spot, the logging locomotive which served in this district from 1914 to 1954. At the same ceremony he presented a locomotive bell to the city of Alberni.

Mr. MacMillan spoke of many changes in methods during the history of lumbering in the Albernis, and predicted that Diesel trucks will haul logs farther to local mills than any previous equipment.

He saw an assured supply of raw material for manufacturing plants here for centuries to come. The change to use of trucks will further the practice of path logging, conducive to natural reproduction of the forests and to fire control, he said.

The building of truck roads will eventually open the whole of the territory from the Beaufort Range to the coast, and approximately 75 miles both up and down the coast.

Towering clouds threatened as the first crowd of the day gathered at Port Alberni City Hall for the ceremony at 10 a.m. when H. R. MacMillan presented the new Canadian white ensign to the Sea Cadet Corps. Rain still threatened but held off as thousands watched one of the biggest parades ever seen here and gathered in Recreation Park for the coronation of Joan Campbell as Queen of the May.

The 15-year-old Alberni district high school student made a charming picture as she was led to the platform by exalted ruler Ivan Hedman and received her crown from retiring queen, Diane McRae.

Attended by Jeanette Kalinowski and Lois Hedley as maids of honor, and a retinue formed of pupils from elementary school of the district, Queen Joan was enthroned to watch a variety program. Included in the afternoon's performance were displays by the Valleyette drill team, Mount Baker High School marching band, maypole dancing by youngsters from all elementary schools in the valley, acrobatics performed by Perko and Ingrid Ollikainen, and numbers by the Alberni Indian Residential School choir.

Edith and Jean Wilson of New Westminster put on a display of batons and the Tippett sisters of Victoria gave an acrobatic display. Sun broke through the clouds at intervals during the afternoon and shone brightly as Queen Joan and her attendants withdrew to visit the hospital.

Hundreds of children took part in sports staged by the Elks Saturday evening to open the celebration. A huge crowd Sunday evening attended a free band concert in Recreation Park where the Mount Baker group was featured.

Following the afternoon's entertainment on Monday, children of the district were guests at the Elks' traditional kiddies ball in Alberni Athletic Hall, with the May Queen and her attendants taking part in the Grand March with officers of the lodge.

Festivities wound up on Empire Day with a dance for adults where Queen Joan again made an appearance.

Signs of Battle Showing; Man Denies Assault Charge

Edward Robertson showed signs of battle when he appeared in police court yesterday. He had a piece of plaster on his chin, and his shirt was blood-stained.

He told Magistrate H. C. Hall he was not guilty of assaulting a police officer, and was remanded until Thursday for trial. His brother, Wayne, pleaded not guilty to obstructing an officer, and was put over for trial the same date.

Police allege the incident occurred when they tried to break up a fight between the two accused in a Fisgard Street restaurant about 3 a.m. yesterday.

Sgt. Jack Mason who is said to have been assaulted, wore a piece of tape on his lip as he watched proceedings. His uniform is said to have been ripped in the fray.

Three persons were fined $35 each, or five days, when they pleaded guilty to charges of careless driving.

Isidore Boudreau, Work Point Garrison, admitted that on May 15 he was involved in an intersection collision at Wharf and Yates. Police said he cut the corner too close.

A collision with a parked car May 2 led to charging of Herbert Bishop, 933 Meares. Police said his car traveled 300 feet after the impact.

Magistrate Hall said he would recommend suspension of the license of John F. Erickson, 1802 Belmont. The court was told damage amounted to approximately $800 following an intersection collision May 15 at Belmont and Begbie.

Robert James Slifka of HMCS Naden was fined a total of $35 when he admitted driving without a license and using a license belonging to another person.

Another sailor, Donald Mitchell, was fined $25 for driving without a license.

George D. Tippett, 3210 Wetherby, was fined $5 for driving the wrong way on a one-way street. A similar penalty was given Joseph Dufresne, 3761 Savannah, when he admitted the same offense.

Ronald Higenell was fined $30, or five days, and ordered to pay $5 costs, after he pleaded guilty to driving without a license when he appeared before Magistrate A. L. Thomas at Langford.

A similar offense brought a $25 fine to Robert E. Booth. The sailor was also ordered to pay $3.50 costs. It cost Thomas G. Guthrie a total of $30 for having no license.

Magistrate Thomas remanded Willard Tkachanko of Langford one week for trial on a charge of impaired driving.

E. T. Woolner, stated by police to have been a passenger in [illegible] was also remanded one week when he pleaded not guilty to causing a disturbance and assaulting a police officer.

Police reported the incidents occurred at about 5 p.m. Monday near Colwood.

Peter Seginowich of Victoria was fined $15 when he admitted crossing a double centre line. A $10 fine was imposed on a city man, Norman L. Goodwin, when he pleaded guilty to speeding. William Nelson of Bamberton was fined $25 for driving without insurance.

Georgia Defies Segregation Order

NEW YORK (UP)—Gov. Herman Talmadge has declared that Negroes and whites will not attend the same schools in Georgia even if troops are sent in to enforce the U.S. Supreme Court's ban on segregation.

"We're not going to secede from the union," Talmadge said, "but the people of Georgia will not comply with the decision of the court."

"It would take several divisions of troops down here to police every school building in Georgia and then they wouldn't be able to enforce it," he said.

"We're going to do whatever is necessary in Georgia to keep white children in white schools and colored children in colored schools."

Talmadge's statements came in a recorded interview on the Columbia Broadcasting System's radio program "The World Today."

The governor, like his father the late Gov. Eugene Talmadge, is a longtime advocate of white supremacy and has made frequent use of the segregation issue in his campaigns.

Talmadge's current term as governor expires in January and he is prevented by law from seeking re-election. A move to change the Georgia constitution and draft him to lead a southern "crusade" against desegregation got underway last week, but Talmadge spiked it with a statement that he did not wish the action to be taken.

Talmadge's sentiments on the supreme court's ruling were echoed on the program by Georgia Attorney General Eugene Cook, who took particular issue with the court's argument that to separate Negroes from whites of similar age and qualifications solely because of their race "generates a feeling of inferiority . . ."

"Segregation does not present to the Negroes that we know in Georgia an inferiority complex," the attorney general said. "The Negroes in this state don't suffer that.

"I think perhaps they will suffer it more if they're forced to integrate with white children because complex and psychological factors will be a constant reminder that they are not up to par with the average white person."

Who is Martin Pretorius?

He is a descendant of the ancient Pretorius family which migrated from Holland to South Africa during the early adventurous days of the Dutch East India Company. The city of his birth, Pretoria, was named for General Marthinius Pretorius, founder and first president of the Transvaal, Dutch Republic of South Africa.

Martin Pretorius is now President of the Pretoria Valley Nutritional Research Foundation, Escondido, California.

What did Pretorius discover in Africa?

WHILE IN THE SERVICE of the South African government, Martin Pretorius came in close contact with primitive people. He was impressed with their well developed bodies and abundant vitality. Continued observation brought the realization that these people did not have headaches, poor circulation, sluggish elimination, bad complexions, flabby tissues, chronic fatigue, sleeplessness, irritability, "jumpy nerves," failing glands, poor eyesight. Nor did they suffer from arthritis, catarrh, colds, colitis, asthma, sinus, diabetes, skin diseases, nervousness, constipation, heartburn, indigestion, rheumatism, ulcers. Furthermore, these primitives had no cancer, heart trouble, and did not die from high blood pressure.

But as soon as these superbly healthy and happy natives migrated to the cities and adopted city ways of living and eating, he noted that they began to suffer from the same ailments and diseases responsible for so much unhappiness among civilized people.

Investigation of the causes of this change was for Martin Pretorius the beginning of a lifetime career of study, research and service to mankind.

Feeling better is up to you!

IMPROPER EATING AND LIVING HABITS are responsible for most of our disorders and troubles today. A better understanding of your body, how it functions, and what its nutritional requirements are, as presented in these Pretorius Motion Pictures, can show you the way to overcome your disorders; make you look and feel younger; improve your eyesight and complexion; tone up flabby, sagging tissues; give you greater vitality and endurance; and help you reduce or gain weight; you don't have to be a FANATIC or "go Primitive" to regain your health and zest for living.

Here's what people say about Pretorius

"We are particularly pleased with the response we are getting from your articles on diet."—DAILY MIRROR, N.Y.

"I have had the pleasure of hearing Martin Pretorius twice and thoroughly enjoyed both lectures."—ELEANOR KITCHEN, Assistant Dean of Women, Boston University.

"His lectures proved not only to be very interesting, but unusually helpful. The fact that the audience remained for two hours, and were then reluctant to go, is ample evidence of the attitude of his hearers."—FRANK C. SPRAGUE, President, Northeastern University

"After hearing one of your lectures on Food Science, I was so impressed with your broad knowledge of the subject that I was pleased when you addressed our Physical Directors' Society at their regular meeting at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology. The members present were unanimous in endorsing your work."—GEORGE L. LISTMAN, State Director of Physical Education, Mass.

Victoria Tyees got past Calgary Stampeders at Royal Athletic Park last night, 12-7, to win the three-game WIL series — but not before they ran into some more of the home-run troubles which have been plaguing them of late.

Victoria pitchers gave up only six home runs in the club's first 21 games this season. In the next seven games, they yielded 18 and three of them last night made it awfully tough for Bob Drilling. In fact, had the Victoria righthander not received the benefit of five Calgary errors, he might have suffered his fourth defeat instead of his fifth win.

Calgary's three out-of-the-park hits accounted for Stamps first six runs and gave the Prairie club a 6-5 lead after six and a half innings of play. However, the Stamps' fourth error gave the Tyees five unearned runs in the Victoria seventh and a fifth error gave them two more tainted tallies in the eighth.

On the other hand, two Victoria boots gave the Stamps four unearned runs as the Tyees continued to have trouble making up in hifting what they have been giving away in pitching and defense.

Up to now, they have barely made it with 15 wins in 28 games, in which they scored 183 runs and conceded 191. But it has been getting tougher. In their last five games the Tyees have scored 50 runs—never less than seven or more than 12 in any game—yet managed to lose three.

The big reason, of course, has been that 'gopher' pitch. Vancouver Capilanoes hit 10 out of the park winning three of four games while the Stamps hit eight in their three games.

Monday afternoon, three Calgary home runs accounted for six runs as the Stamps took the series opener, 9-7, before the season's largest crowd — about 2,400. It was the first time this season that the Tyees had lost more than two in a row but they got back on the right track Monday night to squeeze out a 12-10 victory. The two home runs the Stamps got in this one were back-to-back in the second inning and there was no one on base either time.

OUT HOMERED

Last night's three made it 18 for the opposition after seven games of the current home stand. By contrast, the Tyees have managed only three and one of them, Neil Sheridan's first, last night, was inside the park.

Tyees get tonight off as the footballers move into Royal Athletic Park Thursday night, they open a four-game series with the second-place Edmonton Eskimos, who are a definite pennant threat again this season.

MUIRFIELD, Scotland—Five of Canada's top amateur golfers, including Bob Fleming of Victoria, moved into the third round of match play in the British amateur championships Tuesday by scoring victories after drawing first-round byes.

Fleming, 1953 British Columbia amateur champion, posted the most decisive victory of the day when he overwhelmed John Huckel, 7 and 6. Other successful Canadians were Gordon Taylor of Montreal, Don Doe of Granby, Que., Doug Silverberg of Red Deer, Alta., and Walt McElroy of Vancouver.

Doe needed two extra holes to get by M. C. Hobins of Ceylon while McElroy and Silverberg won 3 and 2 victories over Dixon Rawlinson of England and W. S. I. Whitelaw of Scotland respectively. Taylor, 44-year-old captain of the Commonwealth team, ousted R. K. Hamilton of Scotland, 4 and 3.

The remaining five Canadians bidding for the championship, including three who made the trip on their own, have been eliminated. Tuesday's most prominent Canadian casualty was Nick Weslock of Windsor, who had looked impressive Monday in his 6-and-5 victory over Robert Jenkins of England.

In one of the few third-round matches run off Tuesday, Weslock ran into Ray Howarth, one of the top Australian players, and lost a tight 2-and-1 decision. Other Canadian losers were Phil Farley of Toronto, Colin Rankin, Andre Tessier of Quebec and H. R. Pickens of Montreal.

Defending champion Joe Carr of Ireland moved into the third round while 13 of the original 39 United States entries remained in the running. Heading the American contingent were Robert Sweeny, who won the crown 27 years ago; Frank Strafaci, two-time winner, Frank Stranahan, and Walker Cup golfer, Bill Campbell.

DAVIS BEATS MONTES

SACRAMENTO (UP)—Lightweight Henry Davis, Los Angeles, made short work of Bolo Montes, 440, San Jose, Tuesday night, winning by a TKO in 33 seconds of the third round.

NEW YORK (UP)—Middleweight Joe Giardello of Philadelphia and Bobby Jones of Oakland, Calif., were matched Tuesday for a 10-round bout at Madison Square Garden June 11.

England's XI Blasted By Hungarians, Press

It was last November that the Hungarian national soccer team stunned the British Isles, and the rest of the football world as well, with a smashing 6-3 victory over England at Wembley.

On Sunday, England had its chance for revenge but the Hungarians, cheered on by more than 92,000 slightly delirious fans at Budapest, made it even more convincing 7-1 as they completely outplayed the side which England had hoped would regain her soccer prestige with a World Cup triumph.

AVERTED SHUTOUT

Hungary took a 3-0 lead in the first half and was leading by 6-0 before Broadis saved England the added ignominy of a shutout. And Hungary was as superior as the score would indicate. Captain Ferenc Puskas and Kocsis each scored twice for the winners with single goals going to Lantos, Hidegkuti, and Toth.

No sooner had the result been flashed to England than the English side took a second trouncing, this time from the English press.

The News-Chronicle reproduced a small urn on its front page on which was inscribed: "In affectionate remembrance of English soccer, which died at Budapest on May 23, 1954. Deeply lamented by a large circle of sorrowing friends and acquaintances. The body will be cremated and the ashes thrown into the Danube."

SAD STORY

The Daily Express started its report: "This is not a report. It is a requiem to mourn the passing of England's football greatness, the sad story of a team ruthlessly and scientifically dissected and strewn around the People's Stadium."

There were also pictures of each of Hungary's seven goal-scoring forays in the Daily Express under the banner "Oh, Uran, Istan, Mi Tortent."

That's Hungarian for that favorite old English ballad, "Oh, dear what can the matter be."

Tyees Release Three; Get Nicholas

Victoria Tyees added two players Monday and last night they subtracted three to reduce their playing roster to 18 players.

Joining the club Monday, about five minutes before the game with Calgary Stampeders, was outfielder Neil Sheridan, veteran ex-Coast League outfielder. Due to report—in fact, already overdue—is Joe Nicholas, the side-arming right hander, who compiled a 23-7 record last season with Salem, Nicholas, property of the Portland Beavers, is on 24-hour recall.

Released last night were outfielder-first baseman Art Seguso, rookie infielder Pepper Wesley and rookie southpaw Dan Smith.

Sheridan broke into the Tyee line-up immediately as the club's new centrefielder and hit a triple his first time up. In the three games he has played, the big fellow has hit a home run, a triple, two doubles and a single in 14 trips, batted in six runs and scored eight.

Nicholas, who appeared in 34 games last seasog and completed 18 of 26 starting assignments while pitching 238 innings, will swing into regular starting rotation as soon as he reports and should be a big help in steadying the Tyees' rather liberal mound staff.

Seguso got into 19 games, all at first base except for pinch-hitting chores, and made 11 hits in 55 trips for a .200 average. He batted in nine runs and hit one home run. Smith pitched two innings in a relief role, gave up no hits and walked five. Wesley saw limited action in two or three games.

Glasgow Rangers Delight Fans In 9-0 Triumph over Vancouver

BY TOM TAYLOR

VANCOUVER—If the Glasgow Rangers forward line wears the same shooting boots at Royal Athletic Park tonight as they wore at Callister Park Monday night then the Victoria All-Stars' defense is in for a hot evening, no matter the state of the weather.

Four of them racked up eight of the nine goals scored, centre-forwarded Simpson getting three, while the Vancouver All-Stars failed to find the net once.

The Rangers won as they pleased, mastering a waterlogged pitch and a heavy ball with precision and power and delighting some 6,000 spectators with a dominating display of football. If they lacked the classic grace of some other Rangers teams they gave the crowd its money's worth nevertheless, and then some.

TOOK CONTROL

After a shaky start they took complete control of the game and never let Vancouver have a look in.

Yet the first 15 minutes might have spelled a different story. The international Ibrox defense was anything but international-like and there was the unusual spectacle of Young and Woodburn colliding and going sprawling, and of goalie Niven clutching twice at every ball he handled.

Even Cox, playing in his Scotland position of left back, was none too sure in his clearances.

MISSED CHANCE

This was Vancouver's chance and they missed it. Had their forwards forgotten the reputation of their opponents and showed less timidity and more thrust they might well have been two goals up. And what a fillip that would have been to their morale.

It is a commentary of this period that Niven's yellow jersey was bespattered with mud while at the other end Travis stood immaculate in unspoiled green.

After that Rangers found their feet and McCulloch and Paton began the close teamwork that sparked the Light Blues' offensives all evening. This pair are dangerous every time they sweep up the field, and they got most of the ball. Only occasionally did the strategy switch to Hubbard on the left wing, although this little South African is a tricky imp and he helped himself to two goals.

Stamina told strongly. Why is it that local teams do not match visiting professionals in physical fitness? They never do, yet in this respect they could if they wished meet all-comers on even terms, and it would count tremendously.

RIGHT AT HOME

It rained most of the game and in spots Callister Park was a quagmire. But it rains a lot in Glasgow so the Rangers were right at home. The longer they played the surer the touch, the smoother the passing, the more electric their attacks on goal. For their part the Mainland All-Stars flattered only to deceive, lacking depth and cohesion in attack and being definitely weak in defense. They were out of their class, of course, but even so they failed rather dismally.

After Vancouver's mayor had kicked off—a skimpy effort of a couple of yards—the Mainland eleven began as, though they were wearing the light blue shirts instead of their own red and white colors. Niven never had a warmer opening 15 minutes. Twice he dived, missed, grabbed desperately as a greasy ball nearly eluded him. Red shirts swarmed all over—the penalty area as the Rangers wobbled and the stands rocked with cheers as Pat Philley headed a fine Logan cross just over the bar.

But the attack petered out and the pattern changed. The youthful Hislop, obviously overawed by the giant Young, passed when he should have cut in and the Ibrox captain intercepted and set his team moving. A carpet pass to Woodburn and the front line was in full flow.

The ball went unerringly to McCulloch, back to Simpson and then along the ground to Paton, who poked it into the corner of the net.

That was number one, after 17 minutes play. Three minutes later Hubbard ran in to meet a cross from the right and bang—the ball was in the net again.

FOUGHT HARD

There was only one team in it after this. Pat Philley and Sawyer fought hard to stem the tide, and Travis in goal hopped as lively as a cricket, but only to delay, not cope with, the mounting Rangers' power.

Travis saved beautifully from Prentice, who went goalless all night, but possessed the most powerful Ibrox shot, Paton put weakly past when clean through and then Simpson scored the first of his three goals from a neatly-placed corner kick by McCulloch. It was 3-0 at half-time.

A new white ball came out after the resumption and McCulloch liked it so well he carried it down the field and lobbed it over a hesitating Travis. That was number four, within 60 seconds.

EXCELLENT FOOTBALL

The rest was anti-climax. Young had his team marshalled like an assembly line and they rolled as Vancouver Lions hope to roll next fall. The football was excellent, ground passing that found a man in place every time. It still rained, a drizzle now, but the players kept their feet amazingly well.

Sawyer left the field hurt and Beckett took his place, just as Simpson scored the slickest goal of the night, turning a ball in a dime's space to rocket it high into the net. Ten minutes later he headed another goal.

Woodburn and Cox went off and Caldow and Stanners came on for the Light Blues, without marked difference to the game. The crowd yelled in anticipation as the husky Whittaker trotted on to substitute for Vancouver's Hislop. Brian Philley moving to outside left to let Whittaker take over the pivot spot.

That didn't make much difference either, for the reason that Whittaker never got a decent pass. Once only he threatened, heading a Rogers cross straight for the goal only to have Young hob up miraculously and in turn head it over the bar. For a big man Young can move quickly in moments of peril.

SCORED PENALTY

In due course the Ibrox right-half, McColl, made the count seven, McCulloch eight, and Hubbard nine by demonstrating the true art of penalty kicking when Pat Philley mistook himself for a goalkeeper and grabbed the ball with both hands.

The Rangers were just too competent and clever for the All-Stars, as, of course, was to be expected.

Rangers—Niven, Young and Cox, Mc-Coll, Woodburn and Rae, McCulloch, Paton, Simpson, Prentice, Hubbard. Substitutes: Caldow and Stanners.

Vancouver All-Stars—Travis, Anderson, Sawyer, Jordan, Pat Philley, Wheet, Logan, Rogers, Brian Philley, Ion, Hislop. Substitutes: Beckett, Whittaker, Morino.

Referee: Pat Brady. Linesmen: Webber and Longhurst.

Two winning streaks were shattered Tuesday night as the Chicago White Sox downed Cleveland, 4-2, to climb to within a game-and-a-half of the Indians' first-place perch in the American League.

Steady pitching by starter Billy Pierce and his successor, Virgil Trucks, enabled the White Sox to break Cleveland's 11-game winning streak and send Bob Lemon down to his first loss in seven decisions.

New York Yankees ruined Bucky Harris night at Washington by whipping the Senators, 9-3, on 17 hits to move to within two games of the Indians. Mickey Mantle hit a home run and two singles as Whitey Ford pitched his first complete game this year.

Sammy White, Boston Red Sox catcher, hit into three double plays—one short of the record—then slashed a home run in the ninth inning to give the Red Sox a 3-2 decision over Philadelphia, dropping the Athletics into the basement.

In the National League, Warren Spahn pitched Milwaukee Braves to their eighth victory in a row, a 3-1 decision over Cincinnati which extended the Braves' lead over Brooklyn Dodgers to a full game.

New York Giants all but knocked the roof off the ancient Polo Grounds, hammering out 22 hits including home runs by Whitey Lockman, winning pitcher Johnny Antonelli and Davey Williams in a 21-4 victory over Pittsburgh.

Last night's score: PNE Indians 11, Vancouver Pilseners 8.
Next game tonight: New Westminster Royals at Victoria.

Victoria Shamrocks will have Archie Browning and Bill Bamford back in the line-up tonight when they seek to regain a tie for the Inter-City Lacrosse by defeating the New Westminster Royals at Memorial Arena. Game time is 8.30.

Shamrocks dropped into second place last night when PNE Indians won their fifth straight game by getting past Vancouver Pilseners, 11-8, as they made a first-half lead stand up.

Victoria coach Red McMillan announced last night that Bamford, who missed four games after breaking a finger in a fall at home, would partner Jack Thompson on one defense combination tonight. Browning, who missed the last game because of illness, will return to partner Whitey Severson and Larry Booth on one forward line.

Bob Monaghan and Tom Druce will be the other defense in front of goalie Geordy Johnston while Len Scott will get plenty of action as a fifth defenseman. Big Elmer Matthews will play on a line with Jack Bionda and Jack Sibbald while Jackie Northup, Alan Gill and Harry Irwin form the third attacking threesome.

McMillan also announced that defenseman Nip O'Hearn is expected to be back in action for Saturday's game at Nanaimo. He has been out with a shoulder dislocation.

Norm Baker, out with a skin infection since the first game of the season, is expected back next week while veteran Arnie Ferguson, who has started attending practices, should be ready to start about the same time.

Shamrocks are not expecting an easy game of it tonight with the large Memorial Arena floor suited to the speedy and young Royals. In the first meeting between the two clubs, the Royals came uncomfortably close to winning before the Shamrocks pulled it out, 12-10, by scoring five of the six fourth-quarter goals. Royals have seven members of last year's junior champions in the line-up and one of them, Don Sepka, is leading the league in scoring with 15 points in five games.

In the other game, defending champion Foul Bay pulled away from a stubborn Navy team, which was making its debut under new coach Arnie Ferguson, in the second half to post a 10-4 victory for its fourth win in a row.

Jokers, opening fast, built up a 5-1 edge at half-time and held the four-goal margin at 7-3 going into the final quarter. A total of 26 minutes in penalties were called in the rough contest in which Jokers' Nip Sage suffered a deep cut over his eye.

Next game, tonight: Odd Fellows vs. North Kiwanis, Little League Park.

Kinsmen pulled further ahead in the American League of Little League baseball action last night by stopping Elks, 10-5, for their eighth victory in a row at Little League Park.

In Sunday action in the National League, Gyros had their five-game winning streak cut short when they dropped a 12-2 decision to North Kiwanis, and Rotary won its second game in seven starts when it hung on for an 8-6 win over Odd Fellows.

FOUR-RUN OUTBURST

Gerry Moore went the distance for Kinsmen last night as he held the much-improved Elks to seven hits, striking out nine and giving up 11 bases on balls. A four-run outburst in the bottom of the fifth frame clinched the victory and sent Gordon Dovey down to defeat.

Doug Gilmour paced the winners with three doubles while Irving Rogers and Ken Gregory picked up two hits apiece for the losers.

On Sunday, North Kiwanis, the defending champions, who got away to a slow start, moved into second place with their convincing win over Gyros. Stan McLeod gave up only four hits in going the distance for the Kiwanians while Ray Benwell pitched for the losers.

TWO HOME RUNS

The Kiwanians banged out 13 hits including home runs by Ken Holman and Johnny Balloch and a pair of doubles by Bob Holness. Ken Heal picked up two of the losers' hits.

Rotary scored five runs in the opening inning to give John Harrison a good working margin but they needed three runs in the bottom of the fifth frame to come up with the win. Al Tarbet and Hal McKenzie shared pitching duties for the losers.

Lyle Crawford Captures B.C. Amateur Golf Title

VANCOUVER—Twenty-one year-old Lyle Crawford of Fraser View won the British Columbia amateur golf championship Sunday at Capilano by edging Bob Kidd of Marine Drive, the tournament favorite, 2 and 1 in a thrilling final.

Kidd gained the final with a 5 and 4 win over medalist Doug Rajus of Point Grey while Crawford advanced with a 6 and 5 trouncing of Don Elford of Glen Oaks. Crawford was medalist in last year's tourney at the Royal Colwood Golf Club, won by Victoria's Bob Fleming, who was not defending this year.

LOST IN QUARTERS

Frank Scroggs of Uplands, the only one of three Victorians to reach the round of eight, was beaten in the quarter-finals by Rajus, 1 up. Kidd defeated Jim Gibson of Quilchena, 1 up. Elford defeated Jack Reynolds of Glen Oaks, who was runner-up to Fleming last year, 2 and 1, and Crawford downed Marine Drive's Jack Ellis, 5 and 4.

Crawford, who played brilliant golf throughout the tourney, was forced to come from behind after holding a two-hole advantage after the first 18 holes on the rain-soaked Capilano course.

FIRST TEN HALVED

The first 10 holes were all halved but Crawford took the lead on the 11th. The Fraser View shotmaker and Kidd battled on even terms until the 18th where Crawford got a win to go two up. It was a different story after the break as Kidd pulled even at the 27th, went into the lead at the 30th, but lost his advantage when Crawford won the 32nd.

Crawford won the 33rd, broke even on the next hole, and clinched his well-earned victory on the 35th when Kidd missed a six-foot downhill putt and Crawford coaxed in a two-footer.

Upsets Mark Tourney Play At Gorge Vale

Upsets featured play in both the men's and women's sections of the Gorge Vale Golf Club championships over the holiday week-end.

Highly rated John Merriman tumbled down to defeat at the hands of junior Norm Boden by a 2 and 1 count. Boden, the club junior champion, fired a 73 after setting a club junior record Saturday with a four-under-par 68.

Dave Fanthorpe won the right to meet Boden in the final by edging Bob Woods, 2 and 1, on the strength of a two-under-par 70. The 36-hole final is scheduled Sunday.

In women's play, Mrs. S. Paterson eliminated defending champion Shirley Fry, 2 and 1 while medalist Dorothy Herbertson whipped Miss M. Stewart, 8 and 6, in semi-final matches.

In the consolation flight, Mrs. O. Carroll downed Mrs. D. Ritchie at the 19th hole and Miss N. O'Connell defeated Mrs. J. Davies, 5 and 4. Miss W. Fletcher edged Miss U. Jacobson, 1 up, and Miss O. Cosgrove downed Miss A. Underhill 2 and 1, in first flight semi-final matches.

White Sox Get George Kell, Phil Cavaretta

CHICAGO (AP)—Chicago White Sox moved to bolster their attack over the week end as they acquired two more players in an all-out effort to win the American League pennant.

Most important deal was the $100,000 transaction with Boston Red Sox which brought the Pale Hose third baseman George Kell for Grady Hatton and a large sum of cash.

Kell, who won the league batting championship in 1949 with .343 and boasts a lifetime average of .311, was hitting .258 when the deal was made but has been over .300 for the past eight seasons.

At the same time the White Sox signed Phil Cavaretta, former manager of the Chicago Cubs, for pinch-hitting duties and sent first baseman-outfielder Bob Boyd to Houston of the Texas League.

Australian Stars Upset Victims In French Tennis Tourney Play

(From UP and AP Reports)

PARIS — Tony Trabert, the American champion, knocked out the last Australian threat and Art Larsen upset Wimbledon champion Vic Seixas Tuesday to make possible an all-American final in the French International tennis tournament.

Trabert gained some revenge for his setbacks in Australia last winter when he whipped Mervyn Rose, the Australian champion, 7-5, 4-6, 6-4, 6-2. Larsen, the temperamental southpaw who usually does better on clay courts than on turf, outlasted Seixas, 6-4, 1-6, 8-6, 6-1.

Morea, the rangy Argentinian who has been playing his best tennis this spring, dashed the U.S. hopes for a monopoly on the four semi-final berths when he downed Gardner Mulloy, 6-3, 6-4, 6-1. Patty, a Californian who spends most of his time in Europe, upset back Sven Davidson of Sweden, 6-4, 6-0, 6-4.

MULLOY WHIPS HOAD

Upsets have featured play on the swank courts at the Roland Garros Stadium. Aged but agile Gardnar Mulloy of the United States pulled one of the biggest upsets—of the year when he whipped top-seeded Lewis Hoad of Australia, 6-2, 2-6, 7-5, 6-4, in a third-round match Sunday.

Sven Davidson, black-haired Swedish Davis Cup star, staged yet another surprise when he defeated Ken Rosewall of Australia, 6-3, 3-6, 6-3, 6-3, in another third-round match.

Defending champion Maureen Connolly of San Diego, Calif., led three Europeans into the semi-finals of the women's singles when she whipped Angela Buxton of England, 6-1, 6-0. Others to advance were Italy's Sylvana Lazzarino, Mrs. Nelly Adamson of France and Mrs. Ginette Bucaille, another French player.

Mrs. McIntyre Wins Crown In Club Play

Mrs. Hugh McIntyre won the Royal Colwood Golf Club championship Sunday by edging Dorothy Herbertson, 3 and 2.

Mrs. C. Harrell downed Mrs. B. Norsworthy, 3 and 2, to win the consolation flight; Miss D. Woodburn defeated Mrs. E. Muston, 2 and 1, to win first flight honors, and Mrs. J. Robertson won the second flight by default from Mrs. W. Cotton.

In the men's club handicap championships, Si Spaven edged W. Allen at the 19th hole and W. A. Macdonald moved past J. Greenwood, 2 and 1, in semi-final matches.

Draw and starting times for the finals follow:

Championship—8 a.m., S. W. Spaven vs. W. A. MacDonald. First flight—9:05 a.m., H. J. McIntyre vs. P. Brann. Second flight—9:10 a.m., D. Hogarth vs. R. J. Dorcus. Third flight—9:15 a.m., J. T. Gawthrop vs. P. V. Frith. Fifth flight—9:20 a.m., A. E. Bartlss vs. R. Dunnett. Sixth flight—9:25 a.m., J. G. Greenwood vs. V. Painter. Seventh flight—9:30 a.m., G. Cartwright vs. W. R. Bordeleau. Ninth flight—9:40 a.m., R. H. Crane vs. A. Wright. 10th flight—9:45 a.m., G. R. Nelson vs. W. S. John. 11th flight—9:50 a.m., L. Jones vs. J. Albhouse.

Remember When:

Lawson Little, California golfer, won his second successive British amateur title 19 years ago today at St. Annes-on-Sea, Lancashire. He turned professional the following year, winning the Canadian Open title in 1936. He had won the American Amateur in 1934 and 1935, and took the American Open in 1940.

Davies Dual Winner

Vancouver's Jim Davies, who is making a strong bid for a berth on Canada's British Empire Games cycling team, showed top form over the holiday week end as he captured two of three major bicycling races held in Victoria and Nanaimo.

In the 15-mile Whitney Trophy race at Beacon Hill Park Saturday, Davies edged out Bill Johnson, and Jack Taggert, both recent arrivals from Australia.

The Vancouver ace won his start race at Nanaimo, once again beating out Johnson in a close finish. Tony Bacchetta, a Swiss rider, took third place while Victoria rider Phil Potts was fourth. Davies completed the course in one hour, one minute and 52 seconds.

In a 25-mile unpaced time trial Sunday morning over the Pat Bay highway course, Johnson finished ahead of the field in one hour, one minute and 59 seconds. A wrong turn probably cost the Australian the Canadian record of one hour, one minute, 17 seconds set by Morris Robinson prior to the Second World War.

Standard of British Columbia's finest gasoline achievement

At no increase in price...a new kind of motor fuel that ends forever the biggest single cause of engine trouble

THE World's first detergent-action gasoline

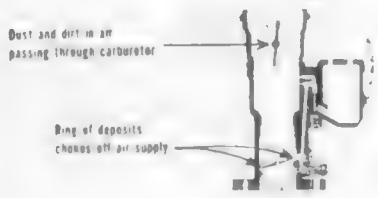
Cleans carburetors in old cars, keeps them clean in new cars to step up power, cut down gas waste, give you a smoother-running, quieter engine that doesn't die at stop signs.

How detergent-action does a repair job on your car

...starting with the first tankful

Your car's carburetor, the "heart" of the engine, mixes air with gasoline to make the engine run. Until now it has had one annoying "heart trouble" no matter what car you drove or what gasoline you used.

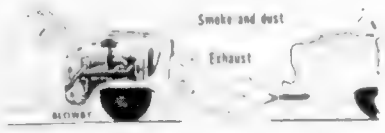
While your motor ran, a ring of deposits built up in the opening through which the air and gasoline flowed. After a few thousand miles this ring gradually choked off the air supply during idling. Your engine began to idle roughly and die at stop lights.



1 out of 3 repair jobs caused by carburetor troubles

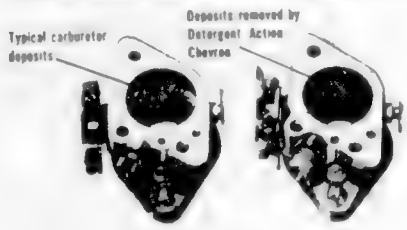
The only solution was to take your car to a repair shop and have the carburetor fixed. That's why carburetor trouble is the greatest single reason for engine repairs.

Then Standard scientists discovered the real cause. Engine vapors and crankcase fumes contain tiny bits of soot, gum and dust. They are drawn in with the air your engine needs and stick in the carburetor.



Removes old carburetor deposits... stops new formations with the first tankful

To cure this, we perfected a new kind of motor fuel to guard the heart of your engine — "detergent-action" gasoline — that not only cleans out the carburetor while you drive, but stops formation of new deposits. As long as you use detergent-action Chevron Gasolines you'll be safe from carburetor troubles except those due to mechanical causes.



Proved through millions of test miles

Since last November, detergent-action Chevron Gasolines have been in gas pumps in a number of Western cities. Through millions of test miles, under the toughest driving conditions, they eliminated stalling of warmed-up engines at stop signs, ended jerking and bucking in traffic, gave cars new pep and power, chalked up money-saving gas mileage (one taxi fleet reported savings up to $1,200 monthly). Best of all, you get the gas saving, trouble-ending, performance-boosting extra advantages of detergent-action without paying a penny more. Get a tankful today.

'Local' Station for Victoria

New Site for KVOS-TV Approved

BY ROY PARRETT

Victoria moved one step closer to having a local television station yesterday when a site on 25 acres from the city was approved for television channel 12 [illegible] station.

The Washington State Recreation and Parks Commission granted KVOS-TV authority to locate its transmitter on top of Mount Constitution, on Orcas Island.

The 2,500 foot site will give KVOS-TV great improved coverage throughout Southwest Washington and British Columbia. The station will be received in all parts of Victoria with indoor aerials according to [illegible]

[illegible] coverage in the entire Puget Sound [illegible] Roger Jones, president of KVOS-TV, said yesterday.

[illegible] in our picture. No parts [illegible] micro-volts are received from the other large band TV stations [illegible] technicians say.

This powerful signal will give Victoria the effect of a local station.

Although the Bellingham station has no plans for transmitting live programs from Victoria at present, it is technically feasible to beam programs from the city via the nearby transmitter.

Arrangements have already been made by the station for coverage of local events on film.

Sherlock Holmes—Hound of the Baskervilles

(Published by arrangement with the estate of Sir Arthur Conan Doyle. World rights reserved. Illustrations copyrighted 1954 by King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

Dr. Watson has been assigned by Sherlock Holmes to work on the Baskerville case, a weird death and strange happenings to their heir to a historic estate.

CHAPTER V

The journey was a swift and pleasant one, and I spent it in making the more intimate acquaintance of my companion, who_____ grazed on well-hedged fields where the lush grasses spoke of a richer and kinder climate. Young Baskerville stared eagerly out of the window and cried aloud with delight as he recognized the familiar features of the Devon scenery.

"I have been over a good part of the world since I left _____," Dr. Watson said he "_____ I have never seen a place to compare with it.

"Are you? Then your wish is granted for there is your first sight of the moor," said Dr. Mortimer, pointing out of the carriage window.

Over the green squares of the fields and the low curve of a wood there rose in the distance a gloomy and broken hill, with a strange jagged summit, dim and vague in the distance, like some fantastic cloud-land in a dream. Baskerville sat for a long time_____ fixed_____ upon_____ that_____ mysterious_____ which_____ _____ meant to him this first sight of that strange spot where the men of his blood had held sway so long and left their mark so deep.

The train pulled up at a small wayside station and we all descended. Outside, a wagonette with a pair of horses was waiting. Our coming was evidently a great event for_____ and porter_____ interested crowd_____ to carry our luggage. It was a swift drive_____ there rose ever, into the evening sky_____ gloomy curve of the moor broken by the jagged and_____ hills.

_____ through a valley dense with_____

An outlying spur of the moor lay in front of us. On the summit, hard and clear like an equestrian statue upon its pedestal, was a mounted soldier, dark and stern, his rifle poised ready over his forearm. He was watching the road along which we travelled.

"What is this, Perkins?" asked Dr. Mortimer of our driver.

"There's a convict escaped from Princetown, sir. He's been out three days now, and we wonders we haven't every road covered. We've had one_____ of him yet. The farmers_____ Here_____ like it, sir, and_____ a fine_____

"I was in my teens at the time of father's death and had never seen the Hall, for he lived in a little cottage on the South Coast. Thence I went straight to a friend in America. I tell you it is all as new to me as it is to you, and I'm as keen as possible to see the moor."

You see, Watson, this man is a man that would stick at nothing."

"Who is he then?"

"Selden, the Notting Hill murderer."

I remembered the case well, for it was one in which Holmes had taken an interest on account of the peculiar ferocity of the crime. The circumstances of his death sentence had served further to some doubts as to his complete guilt. Our_____ had_____ _____ rose the huge expanse of the moor, mottled with gnarled craggy_____ and tors. A cold_____ swept down from it and set us shivering. Somewhere on that desolate plain was lurking this fiendish man, hiding in a burrow like a wild beast, his heart full of malice against the race which had cast him out. It_____ the grim effect of the barren waste, the chilling wind and the darkling sky. Even Baskerville felt silent and_____ his overcoat more closely_____

The road grew bleaker and wilder as now and then we passed a cottage, walled and roofed with stone, with no creeper to break its harsh outline. Suddenly we looked down into a cuplike depression, patched with stunted oaks and firs, twisted and bent by the fury of years. Two high, narrow towers rose over the trees. The driver pointed with his whip and said, "Baskerville Hall."

_____ was_____

Through the gateway we passed into the avenue where the wheels were again hushed_____ trees shot their branches in a sombre tunnel over our heads. Sir Henry shuddered as he looked up the long dark drive to where the house glimmered like a ghost at the farther end. "It's no wonder my uncle felt as if trouble were coming on him in such a place as this."

TV Talk

BY ROY PARRETT

A very good morning to TV fans—especially the wideawake TV sales manager who is bringing a color TV set here for public inspection.

I promised my private spy that I wouldn't mention the name of the store involved in May 1670, until the set arrives.

Viewers will see glimpses of the May 24 coronations in the city on television this week. Both CBUT and KVOS-TV are planning coverage of the events.

CBUT will probably release the news films to cameraman Paul Johnson, on the regular 7 p.m. television news. Films for the KVOS-TV release by Victoria Music Club president Al Lincoln, have not yet been announced.

The CBC today announced July 1 as a tentative date for the originating of "live" shows from its television studios at 1200 West Georgia.

Certain vital equipment is still en route to Vancouver after equipment is still being installed and all equipment here is arriving most urgently for rehearsal tests. This applies also to the CBUT mobile unit which is expected to begin test runs late in June and "on the spot" telecasting sometime in July.

Jack Bateman, supervisor of mobile operations, CBC, Toronto, is scheduled to arrive here next week to head up a two-week instruction course for the Vancouver mobile crew.

At the same time producers are rehearsing local shows and carpenters, designers and painters are soon commencing construction of sets required in shows which are under consideration.

Marce Munro, CBUT's program director, said today that 8:30 nine shows are in the program form at this time, but any one of these may be discontinued if its runs should prove unsatisfactory.

Blue Ribbon Bouts, on KTNT-TV at 7 tonight, will feature a 10-round welterweight contest between Chuck Davey and Vince Martinez from Chicago stadium.

Bill Stern will have jockey Earl Sande as his guest on The Big Playback, on KOMO-TV at 8. Playback sports include one of Eddie Arcaro winning his fifth Kentucky Derby.

The Dalton Gang will be the "Stars of the Century" on KING-TV at 9. It is based on the story of the outlaw brothers who terrorized a good part of the West until they were captured.

Ann Sheridan will star in Malaya Incident on CBUT at

"And this bulb lights up whenever a payment is due."

Adam Got Sound Advice On Expulsion from Eden

NEW YORK (AP)—Adam was given sound medical advice when God banished him from the Garden of Eden and told him to work the soil and eat his bread by the sweat of his brow, says Dr. Joseph B. Wolffe.

Having tasted of the fruit of the Tree of Knowledge, Adam appeared to be pursuing a career as an intellectual, says Dr. Wolffe, chief of medicine

Therefore the good Lord had to warn Adam about the hazards of a sedentary life.

If you're going to continue living as you did in Paradise, he told Adam in effect, you'll be subject for the rapid build-up of your arteries, get thrombosis or sclerosis, hardening of the arteries and grow old before your time.

"If you want to live long and eat your bread too, then you had better get out and do some physical work and eat in accordance with how much you sweat."

Dr. Wolffe was addressing the newly formed American Federation of Sports Medicine. Discussions reported new people who engage in vigorous exercise stay free of degenerative diseases longer than sedentary folk.

From a study of marathon runners they said there is no better tonic for the nation that pumps up your arteries, gives strenuous physical activity encourages the heart.

Power Cable Being Restored

QUADRA ISLAND—Normal electric service is expected to be restored here Wednesday morning as special trouble-shooters repair the submarine cable after nearly a week of off-again on-again suspense.

First break was reported at 8 a.m. Thursday. A patrol traced the trouble to a short circuit in one of the phases in the two-phase cable.

Two-phase service was restored at 5 p.m. and work was started immediately on lifting and repairing the cable.

Continually battling the strong undercurrents in Discovery Passage workmen on a fully outfitted barge patiently explored the cable.

On Saturday, before the last break was exposed, a second fault developed.

At 11 a.m. Sunday a third short circuit again near the island completely put the cable out. Two-phase power was brought to the island and at 7 p.m. partial service was restored.

By Monday afternoon the main fault was exposed and preparations for splicing were going ahead.

Settled safely in their new home

-thanks to the courteous men who moved them!

Moving across the street—or across the country—it's a man-sized job. Just the kind of job that Canada's trucking industry can do and does do every day.

What to move? What to leave behind? These are your problems—but the skilled and courteous professional mover does the rest. You enjoy the comfortable assurance that your possessions will be moved with a minimum of fuss and bother and delivered to their destination safe and sound.

Today, Canada is literally a nation "on the move"—from town to town, province to province, from city to suburb. This is still another job handled by the Canadian truckers, and still another reason why you see so many trucks on the roads these days. They're working for you—keeping Canada "on the move".

Bridge arguments are the bane of the average game. Popular as contract is, there's no doubt that it would be even more widely played if partners didn't bicker. But here's an argument of the kind that makes bridge the world's most wonderful game.

West, an average player, opened the king of diamonds. Then he shifted to the ten of hearts. North's ace won and East signalled with the seven to show his top card in the suit. Declarer came to his hand with the king of spades in order to lead a club toward dummy—just in case West held the blank ace. West ducked the first club and North's king won; then West won the second club and led another heart. South trumped and discarded two diamonds on the long spades, making his doubled contract.

"I'm sorry," apologized West. "Of course, I should have led the ace of diamonds and made sure of the set. I thought you could get in with a heart or a spade and lead the diamond through. Then we'd have set it an extra trick. But I shouldn't have taken the risk of letting him make contract."

"Don't apologize," replied expert East. "It was my fault as much as yours. I should never have signalled with the seven of hearts."

Astonishing as it is for one partner to try to take the blame for another's boner, East was right to criticize himself. Obviously the fault was mostly West's. But East could be sure—that his side would not take a heart trick. West would hardly dare to rebid a four-card heart suit that backed so many high honors as East could see in his own hand and the dummy. East could also see the danger that the spade suit would furnish South with a couple of discards. He should have discouraged his partner from leading another heart, hoping that when, if, and as West got in he'd realize the urgent need to cash that setting trick in diamonds.

Answer to Previous Puzzle

Police Chief Thanks Careful City Drivers

Police Chief John Blackstock last night praised city drivers for "taking it easy" during the holiday week end.

"The driving was excellent," he said. "I really want to thank the driving public for their co-operation. A bad accident or fatality always mars a good holiday."

Actually there was only one accident in the city over the holiday period.

RCMP ALSO PLEASED

"I don't suppose we can have a holiday like this completely free of accidents," commented Chief Blackstock.

The picture was the same up-Island, too. Central Saanich, Sooke and Duncan reported few accidents and no injuries while the Colwood area had three accidents with only one injury.

Island RCMP were also very pleased with the way drivers conducted themselves.

Four young Victorians escaped injury in the most spectacular road accident reported on Vancouver Island during the holiday week end, when their car plunged off the highway [illegible] cycle was in collision with an auto driven by Lillian M. Ballen, East Saanich Road, about 5 p.m. Sunday.

Accidents causing injury were light in the city. Ralph Peters, 16, of Dupplin Street, was taken to Royal Jubilee Hospital suffering [illegible] and other cuts after he was thrown from his motorcycle.

He was involved in a collision about 4.30 p.m. Sunday at Caledonia and Quadra with a car driven by Ngar Wah Qual, 1731 Government.

Another cyclist, 13-year-old Edith Hayton, of 1502 Jubilee, was treated at Royal Jubilee yesterday for abrasions. Her bicycle was in a collision at McKenzie and Oak Bay Terrace about 12.15 p.m.

Police later interviewed Otto E. Kapene, 103 Oak Bay Terrace, in connection with the accident. He stated he remembered seeing a cyclist, but did not know the bicycle hit his car.

STILL INVESTIGATING

RCMP there stated yesterday that they are still investigating the accident. No charges have been laid.

They named the driver as Ray Linden, 23, of Cordova Bay Road. The passengers were said to be Pat Sinclair, Marie Carlow, and "Sonny" McKellar. No addresses were available.

The accident happened at Chase River, about four miles south of Nanaimo, when the car turned over on a steep bank after going off the left-hand side of the road.

Rear-end collisions involving four cars Saturday night sent Merle Thomas, 26, of 1880 Haultain, to Jubilee Hospital suffering knee injuries. The accident happened at Millstream Road and Island Highway.

Checkoff Splits Parties

OTTAWA (CP) — Liberals and Progressive Conservatives split across party lines in the Commons Tuesday on a CCF proposal to have the voluntary revocable checkoff written into the federal labor code.

The proposal, contained in a bill introduced by Stanley Knowles (CCF, Winnipeg North Centre), was defeated 107 to 51.

The legislation would have made it mandatory on employers under federal jurisdiction to deduct union dues from employees' pay envelopes when the workers authorized this. Industries affected would have included railways, communications and other interprovincial operations falling under the jurisdiction of federal labor legislation.

Eleven Liberals and six Progressive Conservatives voted with the CCF and Social Credit parties and two Quebec independents. The measure was opposed by 87 Liberals and 20 Progressive Conservatives.

Local Shipyards Bid For $1,250,000 Ship

BY BILL McCARTHY

Two Victoria shipbuilding firms are bidding for the contract to build a $1,250,000 lighthouse tender to operate out of this port, it was learned today.

Yarrows and Victoria Machinery Depot are entering bids for the ship to replace CGS Berens in response to a call for tenders issued by the Department of Transport in Ottawa yesterday.

The new ship, plans for which are now with DOT officials here, will be larger than the Berens and will carry a crew of 25. Her specification will be almost identical with the CGS Alexander MacKenzie, a three-year-old lighthouse tender operating out of Prince Rupert.

BUILT AT VANCOUVER

The Alexander MacKenzie was built by Burrard Shipbuilding Co. in Vancouver, also believed to be bidding for the contract.

The new ship will have an overall length of 150 feet and width of 30, and be of all-steel construction.

Thomas Morrison, supervisor of DOT construction in Victoria, said builders would try to "iron out a few bugs" discovered in the Alexander MacKenzie if permission can be obtained from Ottawa for the additional costs.

However, Mr. Morrison stated the Alexander MacKenzie has proved to be "a fine sea ship" and the modification he hopes to realize on the planned tender [illegible]

Once construction is started it is expected it will take a year before the ship is ready for service. Closing date for receipt of tenders is July 8.

Government To Pay Sixth Of Insurance

OTTAWA (CP)—The government will underwrite one-sixth of the cost of a new insurance plan to pay death benefits of up to $5,000 for members of the civil service and the regular armed forces.

The plan was hailed by Stanley Knowles (CCF, Winnipeg North Centre) as socialized life insurance which should be extended to all Canadians. Maj.-Gen. G. R. Pearkes, VC, (PC, Esquimalt-Saanich) however, said he has qualms about making the scheme compulsory.

The plan was outlined to the Commons Tuesday by William Benidickson, parliamentary assistant to Finance Minister Abbott, before the House approved a resolution preliminary to introduction of legislation.

He said it will apply to all members of the regular forces and civil servants, including those who work for Crown corporations, who normally contribute to the civil service superannuation plan.

The payment at death would be either $5,000 or a year's salary, whichever is less.

Mr. Benidickson said the government will pay the cost of administration, plus one-sixth of the insurance payment after death.

Those covered by the plan would pay $4.80 a year for each $1,000 of insurance.

Former civil servants now retired would not be covered, but those who retire or go to other jobs would be entitled to continue payments under the plan.

THREE CITY RESTAURANTS START BEER SALE

First Glass Enjoyed

Historic "first" was scored yesterday by John McPherson, 64 Oswego, when he drank the first bottle of beer to be served in a Victoria restaurant under the new liquor laws. He dropped in to Brand's, 1009 Government, for his beer and was served by Mrs. Cecile Miller, 320 Henry. McPherson, who is a linoleum contractor, ordered a salmon steak to go along with the beer and the law. "Nothing I like better than a bottle of beer after a good day's work," he grinned.

No Wine Just Yet

First 10 Licenses Bring End To Victoria's 35 Dry Years

BY RAY BAINES

Three Victoria restaurants yesterday picked up where they left off 35 years ago and served tall, cold glasses of beer with meals.

Licenses for 10 city hotels and restaurants were issued yesterday. A few were in the mail but most were handed personally to operators who picked them up at liquor control board offices.

All were dining room licenses, entitling the licensees to serve beer and wine with meals. None served wine yesterday, as they had not prepared price lists.

The actual "beat" was scored by Edward Brand of Brand's Restaurant, 1009 Government Street. At 4.40 p.m. his restaurant served its first beer to John McPherson, 64 Oswego, the first Victoria citizen to buy it in a restaurant under the new liquor act.

NOT FAR BEHIND

The Strathcona Hotel was not far behind. The first customer was served at 4.50 p.m. and by 6 p.m. every other table had beer on it.

Some customers were a little self-conscious about ordering the beverage.

The Cameo Cafe at 828 Yates Street was serving beer by about 6 p.m.

Operators reported no unusual rush of business although they said many people ordered beer for the novelty of having it in a restaurant.

Price of a bottle of beer was 35 cents in all three establishments. Ale was 40 cents and Guinness stout 65 cents.

WHAT IS MEAL?

Clarification of several details in the regulations may still have to be made. One of the restaurants was allowing people to order beer with a bran muffin or an order of cookies. Definition of a "meal" has not been made clear under the regulations. Government officials feel that what may be a meal to one man is not a meal to another and that definition would merely create new problems.

Another restaurant operator was playing "on the safe side" and serving beer only with a full meal. He said he hoped for a ruling on what constitutes a meal soon.

Serving beer in bottles bothered another operator. He said the "liquor by the glass" rule may preclude the serving of a bottle of beer. Most glasses won't hold 12 fluid ounces and waitresses are therefore filling the glasses and leaving the bottle on the table.

The three restaurants serving beer yesterday expect to make a start on wines later in the week. Also receiving their licenses yesterday were Paul's Dominion and Paul's Sussex restaurants, Olympia Cafe, Duffy's Cafe and the Waldorf. They expect to start serving this week or early next week.

THREE LICENSES

Empress Hotel manager Thomas Chester said his licenses are in the mail. Granted three licenses — dining room, dining lounge and lounge (cocktail bar)—the Empress may start serving beer and wines with meals later this week.

The new cocktail bar located in the present reading and writing room, won't be ready for two months. Strathcona manger H. R. Olson said his cocktail bar may be ready in a month.

Meanwhile, H. R. Barnett of the Poodle Dog Cafe said he will meet Col Donald McGugan, LCB chairman, at 4 p.m. to try and settle the controversy over his restaurant's famed trade mark and sign.

The board ruled that the sign, likeness of a poodle dog carrying a tray with a bottle and two wine glasses on it, is contrary to the regulations under the liquor act, because it "advertises" the serving of liquor.

Mr. Bennett said the trademark has been with his business for 64 years and he does not want to abandon it.

VANCOUVER (CP) — A glass of port could be enjoyed Tuesday along with the mountain scenery on both CNR and CPR transcontinental trains.

For the first time since 1915 it was lawful to serve liquor on trains in British Columbia.

The first corks poped Monday night, 20 minutes after the trains left Vancouver for the east.

Military personnel will not be served on trains. Federal regulations prohibit the serving of liquor to members of the armed forces.

Flood Less Likely

At least another week of cool weather is needed to erase the danger of a repetition of the devastating Fraser River flood of 1948, according to the Fraser Valley's chief flood-control officer.

The weatherman last night cooperated by forecasting lower temperatures which will help to keep snow on Interior mountains running off steadily instead of descending in a sudden flood.

J. L. MacDonald, Fraser Valley diking commissioner, reported the situation was "fairly quiet" Tuesday. The Fraser showed a "very slow rise" over the week end, he said.

The river level was 15.1 feet at Mission, up less than six inches in 24 hours. Last week the river rose a foot every day.

Mr. MacDonald said the cool week end weather was encouraging and that if it kept up for a week to 10 days there would be no serious trouble in the Fraser Valley.

No new flooding was reported from the interior Tuesday.

Violence Feared In Alaska

ANCHORAGE, Alaska (AP) Einar Meining, business agent of the independent Alaska Fishermen's Union at Cook Inlet, announced Tuesday he is resigning and asked the Coast Guard to dispatch a cutter to the inlet to avoid bloodshed and violence between fishermen.

Meining told radio station KENI that opening of the fishing season found only 35 boats —all from the United States— operating and several hundred local fishermen refusing to fish because canneries have cut the price they will pay.

He said the action by the stateside operators in accepting the lower prices has caused much local bitterness. Meining estimated that canneries have cut the price paid for fish from 10 to 25 per cent but a cannery spokesman said it was four to eight per cent.

Pollak Ollestad, designated by Meining as his successor, reported from the inlet, however, that all was peaceful and quiet and he was not as perturbed as the retiring business agent.

Ollestad confirmed that several hundred boats normally used by Cook Inlet fishermen still were tied up, affecting approximately 1,000 workers.

Meining blamed the situation on recent action by the Federal Trade Commission barring the union and canneries from reaching a contract price. The FTC action resulted in an agreement under which the individual operators each negotiate with the canners.

It was not learned whether the Coast Guard had sent a cutter to police the Cook Inlet but a Seattle Coast Guard official said it was likely the 17th District at Juneau would do so.

U.S. Arms Neighbors

Envoy Recalled From Guatemala

GUATEMALA CITY (UP) — The Honduran ambassador to Guatemala Tuesday was recalled by his government.

Jacinto Octavio Duron left immediately. When he boarded the plane he said he did not believe Honduras would break diplomatic relations with Guatemala.

In another development, Foreign Minister Guillermo Toriello said his government was concerned about the United States decision to send arms to nations that are "hostile to this country."

Toriello said Secretary of State John Foster Dulles' statement that Guatemala is the best-armed country in Central America, was "a continuation of the campaign of exaggeration being waged against Guatemala."

Dulles said Tuesday the Communist shipment of $10,000,000 worth of arms to leftist Guatemala may be a move to set up a Red bastion near the Panama Canal.

Guatemala is about 750 air miles from the canal.

Dulles spoke at his press conference amid a series of nervous reactions arising from the shipment of 2,000 tons of arms from Communist-run Poland to Guatemala and a state department announcement that U.S. arms are being sent by air to Guatemala's neighbors, Nicaragua and Honduras.

Moscow radio denounced the U.S. action as preparation for "an attack against Guatemala."

Air-lifting of arms for the two Central American countries began Tuesday.

Monday night in a dispatch from Tegucigalpa, Honduras, the Chicago Tribune reported that war between Honduras and Guatemala appeared imminent.

Honduran border guards Sunday captured five armed Guatemalan Communists who had crossed over into Honduras, said the dispatch.

Gesture Alarms Guards

GENEVA (Reuters) — The "Quick on the draw" game is getting to be a popular pastime among spectators outside the Palace of Nations here.

Russian and Chinese Communist bodyguards at the Far East conference don't like their part in the game at all.

Spectators noted in the conference's early days that the Communist bodyguards adopt a sinister attitude — right hands kept menacingly inside their coats—whenever their chiefs walk through the crowds.

So the game began. Bystanders adopted the same frightening pose.

These poses at first caused alarm among the bodyguards, who suspected an assassination attempt. Now they have got used to it and grin sourly at their imitators.

But they still keep their hands inside their coats.

Chou En-Lai Acts

China Rejects Plan Of India's Nehru

GENEVA (UP)—Communist China rejected Indian Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru's proposal for an immediate cease-fire in Indo-China, informed Geneva conference sources said.

Red Chinese Premier-Foreign Minister Chou En-Lai personally turned down the two-point plan after it had been presented to him by V. K. Krishna Menoh, India's roving ambassador.

The plan, according to the sources, called for:

1. An immediate halt in the fighting.

2. Formation of a good offices committee composed of Asian neutrals to aid the two sides in working out a political settlement once the truce became effective.

Chou's action was disclosed as the East and West prepared to start the mechanics of a cease-fire at the ninth session of Indo-China peace talks.

French Foreign Minister Georges Bidault rushed back to Paris last night for urgent consultations with his government on the ceasefire proposal.

Informed sources said the Viet Minh plan calls for the partitioning of the three Indo-Chinese states of Viet Nam, Laos and Cambodia. The plan was outlined by acting Viet Minh foreign minister Pham Vandong.

Informants said the new Red proposal called also for a regrouping of the rival armed forces and exchanges of territory in all three of the associated Indo-Chinese states.

Meanwhile, the United States has every expectation that Britain will join the proposed anti-Communist southeast Asian alliance if it is set up, Secretary of State John Foster Dulles said in Washington.

He also told a news conference the United States would support an appeal to the United Nations to send a peace commission to embattled Indo-China.

Banished or Worse?

Stalin's Son Missed In Moscow Haunts

FRANKFORT (NANA)—Lieut.-Gen. Vassily Stalin, 33-year-old son of the late Soviet dictator, has vanished from the Moscow scene, according to diplomatic reports reaching here from Moscow.

For nearly nine months now the young Stalin has not been seen in Moscow and his name has not appeared in print a single time in this period. Western diplomats believe he has been banished to the provinces or has been done away with.

It is an open secret, according to American diplomats with long service in Moscow, that Premier Stalin's arrogant, swaggering son was detested by most of the present top Soviet leadership.

Diplomatic reports also linked the disappearance with a deliberate effort now being made by the Soviet Union to play down Stalin as a great figure of the Russian revolution and re-emphasize Lenin.

At 30, Vassily Stalin was the youngest general in Russia's armed forces, a fighter pilot and head of Moscow's air defense command. Prior to Stalin's death Vassily was often seen, according to the diplomats, in Moscow night clubs and driving his wine-red, siren-equipped Mercedes-Benz convertible through Moscow's streets.

His mother was Nadezhda Alliluyeva, daughter of an old Bolshevik who had once sheltered Joseph Stalin from Czarist police. Vassily was born a year after their marriage, Stalin's second. The mother was found dead in Stalin's apartment in the Kremlin in November 1932. Stalin said she had committed suicide.

Scientists Seek Sea Serpent

PARIS (NANA)—Space has been reserved for a sea serpent at the Paris Natural History Museum where a group of scientists has set out to prove that all those stories of the Loch Ness stripe are perfectly true.

To back up their considered judgment that "living fossils" still rove the ocean depths, the scientists are seeking to organize an international expedition. Britain, among other European countries, has been asked to join.

The explorers, under present plans, would plumb the depths of the Mozambique Channel off the east coast of Africa. It was in these waters that a native late in 1952 caught a five-foot coecalanth, a fish that flourished 300,000,000 years ago and which had been believed extinct for 75,000,000 years.

The French scientists believe that, like the coecalanth, the sea serpent has hung on over the eons. They cite the possibility that the surviving monsters are of the plesiosaur genus, which inhabited the seas millions of years ago. Skeletons of these beasts have been dug up from the clay near Peterborough, in Britain. In some the skull was nearly six feet in length and a single tooth was over a foot long. Thirty feet long, they propelled themselves through the water with four big paddles and ate pebbles which were kept in the stomach to help in grinding up food.

Citizens May Aid Gas Plan

TACOMA (AP) — Formation of a 20-member citizens' committee to bring natural gas to the Pacific Northwest was announced Monday by Alen Peyser, president of Tacoma's Washington Gas and Electric Company.

Peyser said the committee is taking no sides in the rivalry among several companies seeking a Federal Power Commission permit to serve the area.

He said between 200 and 300 letters have been sent to mayors and Chamber of Commerce presidents in Washington and Oregon suggesting that they send wires or letters to the EPC emphasizing this region's interest in obtaining natural gas.

An EPC examiner recently recommended that none of the applicants be granted a permit because of insufficient supplies or financing.

The Buraimi area lies in an unmarked border area between Saudi Arabia and the coast along the Persian Gulf where Britain controls a handful of backward sheikhdoms through protectorate treaties.

Queen Moves Right, Country Scenes Added

New Money To Look Different

OTTAWA (BUP) — Canada's new hard-to-imitate paper currency went on display at a private preview in the parliamentary press gallery Tuesday.

Experts from the Bank of Canada will start out across the country today to put the new bills on display in banks and newspaper offices to acquaint the public with the new currency before it is issued early in September.

Graham Towers, bank governor, unveiled the new bills bearing Queen Elizabeth's portrait in the press gallery. He explained that one thing bothering bank officials is that the counterfeiters will turn out poor imitations of the new bills during the first days of the new issue, before the public has become familiar with them.

Besides making the traditional change over to the portrait of the new sovereign, the new bills embody radical changes in design, engraving and printing methods. The changes are designed to make the bills easier to identify and harder to copy.

The bills will be one-eighth of an inch shallower, to save on paper, printing, handling and materials costs.

The portrait of the Queen appears on the right hand side of the front panel instead of the centre. It will be on a vignette background, rather than enclosed in a border. The vignette is harder to duplicate than a straight-line border.

The picture of the Queen was engraved from a photograph taken several years ago by Ottawa photographer Yosuf Karsh. It has been approved by the Queen. All copies of the picture have been destroyed.

The elaborate figures and letters known as "banknote baroque" have been changed to simple gothic and Roman letters and figures. In addition, the "lathework"—complicated fine-line scroll work and curly-cues evident on most currency—will be simplified. Experts have decided that flaws in counterfeit engravings are easier to spot when the lathe work is less elaborate.

The backs of the bills will carry pictures of typical Canadian countryside scenes.

By combining steel engraving and offset printing, and by printing on dry paper instead of damp paper as at present, the new bills will be given color tints and surface textures that will be impossible to duplicate without the same costly, custom built presses used for the bank's notes, Towers said.

Although denomination colors will not be changed, a universal of the background plate on the face of the notes will give the effect of two colors in addition to black.
